Street Improvement Plea Ignites Debate in Council

A request for improvements along E. High St. touched off a stormy debate Tuesday night in Circleville Council.

Several residents from the area concerned appeared before the solons to sound the need for various improvements. Mrs. Everett Stocklen served as spokesman.

The delegation's primary objective was to get positive action, on a step-by-step basis, that would lead to street improvements.

The spokesman suggested that initial action center on erecting curbs and gutters along four properties where they do not exist. The next step would focus on removing the street's high crown and subsequent paving, followed by an improved parking system near the intersection with Court St.

A PETITION from the same delegation, seeking removal of the high crown, was filed with council last February.

Dwelling on the subject for more than an hour, the solons launched a vain attempt to determine why the E. High St. sector was not included on this year's improvement program.

This, in turn, set off an argumentative debate on procedures that should be followed concerning improvements on any city street. Councilman John Jenkins suggested a resolution be prepared to instruct property owners to install curbs and gutters where needed, prior to repair work.

Solicitor Kenneth Robbins countered by advising that proper planning and engineering should be initiated before such projects are launched.
He termed it a legal requirement that should be followed before property owners are instructed to erect curbs and gutters.

Although no conclusive action was taken, the delegation's request was referred to the service committee. Council President Harold Clifton's suggestion that the solicitor's advice be followed indicated plans, specifications and necessary engineer work will be undertaken.

The matter of parking along the High-Court intersection apparently will be a discussion item for a future day. The same probably holds true for the establishment of a standard street improvement schedule each year.

THE MEETING atmosphere warmed even a little warmer when Earl Boen, E. Main St., lodged a complaint on unrestricted parking that allows large commercial type vehicles to park in residential areas, especially overnight.

According to present city law, vehicles can remain in a public parking area for 24 hours without being required to move.

Canada Press Says U.S. Pauses In Viet Bombing

OTTAWA (AP)—The United States has taken a pause in its bombing of part of the buffer zone separating the two Viet Nams, the Canadian Press reported today. This "has given some hope, no matter how dim, of a general pause in the war's fury," it said.

The Canadian Press spoke of a new policy which it said "appears to be to carry out a pause in a confined area to see whether it brings a similar disengagement by the Communists." It emphasized that the Communist response—if any—is not known in Ottawa.

The Canadian Press, Canada's nationwide news agency, gave no source for its report today but said the "small letup in one battle zone" was confirmed. It added:

"Officials here were extremely reluctant to talk about the situation for fear that any discussion could extinguish the tiny spark of hope.

"But it is understood that the letup has permitted the International Truce Supervisory Commission in Viet Nam to resume some limited patrols in the 35-mile-long, 6-mile-wide buffer zone between North and South
Viet Nam.

"The letup has taken the form of a pause in the U.S. bombing in the eastern sector of the buffer or so-called demilitarized zone.

"This willingness by the U.S. and South Viet Nam to find out if there can be an equal letup by North Viet Nam, which has infiltrated the buffer zone, has evoked a favorable response in official circles here.

The hope here is that the letup might be the starting point for a disengagement of forces in Viet Nam.

"However, the response of the Communist North Vietnamese, if any, is still not known here."

Commission patrols of the buffer zone by two teams each comprising two Canadian officers, two Indians and two Poles had to be given up this summer because of U.S. bombing attacks on North Vietnamese staging areas and ammunition dumps.

"It now has been possible to resume patrols on a limited scale because of the bombing pause," the Canadian Press said, adding:

"Officials declined to discuss what part Canada had, if any, in the U.S. decision to try a bombing pause in part of the buffer zone.

"The new policy appears to be to carry out a pause in a confined area to see whether it brings a similar disengagement by the Communists.

"Officials here would neither confirm nor deny Washington press reports that the limited pause has resulted from discussions between the truce com-

Portsmouth Gives Police Pay Raise

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—
The Portsmouth Citizens Council Tuesday recommended a pay raise for police officers on Nov.
1 to avert a threatened strike by the city's 50-man force.

The council's recommendation however, called for less than half the $125 a month increase demanded by the police who have threatened to strike by Oct. 15 if city officials do not take action on their pay requests.

Among the guests at the ceremony was his son, Cadet Joseph E. Muir II, 18, of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.
Lt. Col. Muir's battle citation tells the story:

"With utter disregard for his own safety, Col. Muir fearlessly exposed himself to intense enemy fire while leading his battalion against insurgent Viet Cong forces. Though fully cognizant of the danger, he repeatedly positioned himself in the midst of the violent action.

"Upon encountering strong enemy resistance, he joined the assault companies in front line positions to personally direct their advance and succeeded in conquering two of the more strongly defended hostile areas, resulting in 215 confirmed enemy dead."

Muir's 3rd Battalion, 3rd

Marine Division, was then in the midst of Operation Starlight, an amphibious landing that scattered two Viet Cong regiments massing to attack the important Chu Lai base near Da Nang.

The battle was a big morale booster for the Marines, then newly committed to Viet Nam.
It marked one of the few times tricky Viet Cong units had been trapped and battered by U.S. forces.

Georgians List Write-in For Governor

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Geo-gia voters were offered a write-in choice for governor today when a citizens group endorsed once-defeated Ellis G. Arnall in opposition to Democratic and Republican nominees.

Arnall, loser in the Democratic primary runoff to segregationist Lester G. Maddox, was decided upon shortly before 1 a.m. by a committee set up at a meeting of several hundred persons.

In a startling move, Dr.
Martin Luther King Jr., father of the civil rights leader, urged earlier that Sen. Herman E.
Talmadge, D-Ga., be tapped as the write-in choice.

"The only man I know now that can save this state is Herman Talmadge," King said. A Talmadge aide said in Washington the senator had no comment.

The write-in effort entered Georgia's topsy-turvy political situation one day after Rep.
Charles L. Weller stunned Democratic supporters by withdrawing as the nominee for a third term in Congress rather than keep a party loyalty pledge and vote for Maddox.

Fulton County Democratic Executive Committee members were called to a meeting today to nominate a replacement for Weller.

Weller, who had said he would cast a write-in ballot for governor, was among proposed gubernatorial candidates discussed at the meeting. But it was agreed to honor his wish to stay out of the picture.

Most of those at the meeting said they could not vote for Maddox or Rep. Howard H.
(Bc) Callaway, the Republican nominee—a conservative ex-Democrat.

In the event the write-in candidate drew enough votes to block a majority for any of the gubernatorial candidates, the state House of Representatives would elect the governor. And some of the voters predicted that the certain outcome would be Maddox's election anyway.

Once

Roundtown

A REMINDER from the Circleville High School Booster Club: please fly those CHS Red and Black Flags downtown on the day of home football games.

According to the Boosters, flags will be provided free of charge to any downtown merchant who wants one. They can be furnished immediately by contacting John Jenkins, Waldo Martin or Lawrence (Speeder) Davis.

Booster members especially are anxious to see a prominent flag display for Friday's Homecoming game with Miami Trace.

President Bill Thornton also reminded that CHS Coach Paul Star will show films of the Circleville - Greenfield game during tonight's meeting at Noel's King Boy South. The family physician says

William Brittain, 18, of Youngstown, apparently acquired the disease at Ft. Benning and that the U.S. Army has been notified. Brittain was reported in fair condition.

The assistance is based on the number of federally employed people within a school district. This marks the first time Westfall has qualified for the aid.

According to officials here,
the government's Deercreek Reservoir project near Williamsport was a major factor in determining the eligibility.

The county's three other school districts, Circleville, Teays Valley and Logan Elm have received grants in the past.

Home Building Suffers Drop

NEW YORK (AP)—Construction of new houses across the country is off sharply this year as interest rates climb.

Many families are having trouble borrowing money to buy
new homes.

"Home building has all but
been shattered by tight money," said Burton E. Smith, president of the California Real Estate Association. "I never have seen it so tight, so bad. If and when building starts up again, it will take the builders two years to

An Associated Press survey of major cities found:

Housing starts in Southern California this year have been
the lowest since 1944.

In Dallas, they are the lowest in six years, with apartment construction down 39 per cent
and houses 17 per cent.

"With all the hundreds of real estate offices in Dallas, only 12
deals were made in the whole
city in half a week," said Mrs.
Maude Thompson, a Dallas real estate agent. "Usually it's 80 or so a week."

Talks Resume

GE Strike Would Hurt War Effort

WASHINGTON (AP)—Negotiations in the General Electric Corp. labor dispute got down to hard bargaining today after hearing a special White House panel warn that a strike would seriously hurt the Viet Nam war effort.

Resumption of the talks — halted since Sunday, when President Johnson won a delay of a threatened nationwide union walkout — was announced by chief federal mediator William E. Simpinkin. At odds are the giant electrical company and the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers.

Secretary of Defense Robert
S. McNamara, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor exchanged views Tuesday with company and union negotiators in dual sessions.

McNamara and other defense
officials said at a Pentagon

threaten seriously the flow of military hardware to U.S.
fighting men in Viet Nam. He said this included engines for jet fighters and helicopters, radar
and other electronic equipment, bomb sights and aircraft weapons.

Both sides agreed to a two-week extension of present contract terms, beginning at 12:01
a.m. last Monday, so federal officials could try to steer the talks to a settlement.

General Electric has offered a
three-year contract with wage hikes of 4 per cent the first year
and 3 per cent each in the second and third years, additional increases for higher skilled employees, 6 cents in cost-of-living raises over the three years and pension and insurance improvements.

The firm offered an additional 3-cent cost-of-living raise if the union agreed to a 42-month contract.

The union is demanding bigger cost-of-living increases, better procedures for settling grievances and other gains to make up for what it calls poor contracts of earlier years.

The IUE represents about 80,
000 of the 120,000 union workers involved at about 160 GE plants
around the nation.

Their pay averages about $2.8 per hour in wages and 45
cents an hour in fringe benefits
under the old contract.

Youth Arrested
For Potshotting

CINCINNATI (AP)—An 18-
year-old was arrested Tuesday night after police said he allegedly fired at children as they walked past his house.

Police had surrounded the home of David Bollinger after children reported they were fired at. Bollinger later came out and surrendered, officers said.

He was charged with two counts of shooting with intent
to kill and discharging firearms.
He reportedly had a .25 caliber
foreign-made revolver.

Key West Blacked-Out During Night

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane
Inez, growing meaner again
over the warm waters of the Gulf of Mexico, ground today to an ominous stop, lashing the seas with winds up to 126 miles an hour.

Blocked by an immense high pressure system over the gulf,
the killer storm stalled after hitting the Dry Tortugas, 68 miles west of Key West, with gusts of 114 to 126 mile velocity.

Unable to turn northward toward the upper Gulf Coast states, Inez now had two logical choices. She could swing back to northeast and strike Florida another blow—this time a more deadly one. Or she could move to the southwest, toward Central America.

Forecasters, dealing with the most unpredictable storm ever
to howl out of the tropics, predicted that Inez would remain
stationary for 24 hours before going on the prowl again.

While she made up her mind,
Inez could suck up warm moisture from the gulf—the stuff
that feeds fury into a hurricane
—and grow more vicious by the hour.

Inez hammered Key West
with 90-mile winds, leaving surprisingly little damage behind.
A killer in the Caribbean, Inez
was just a pesky windstorm in the Florida Keys.

Key West, the nation's southernmost city, was blacked out
by power failure, but otherwise
the 40,000 residents saw little damage as they emerged from their homes in the blustery backlash of the storm. Trees were knocked down, awnings blown off, and some house trailers damaged by the wind.

Born in the Atlantic Ocean,
Inez cut a path of death and destruction through the Caribbean Sea, then returned to the Atlantic to lash the Bahamas and Florida.

Now, in her 12th day, she was in the Gulf, with 700,000 square miles of warm tropic water to refuel her engine and new coastal targets in nearly all directions.

Lights blinked out in Key West and hundreds huddled inside shelters during a wild night in the blacked-out city.

Hurricane winds continued to rage in the lower Florida Keys
as Inez moved into the Gulf
across the Dry Tortugas, site of the Fort Jefferson National Monument, 68 miles out of Key West.

In the storm's wake, gusts of gale force continued throughout
the Keys and up to the marshy southern rim of the Florida peninsula.

Along the southeast Florida
"Gold Coast," which suffered
only nuisance damage during a 24-hour hammering by gales up to 70 miles an hour, conditions
were returning to normal.

Forecasters, baffled for days
by the vicious storm's erratic movements, wouldn't guess at her future course beyond tonight. By then, she should be gathering strength 300 miles west of the Keys.

Draft Board Asked To Defer Doctor

WORTHINGTON, Mass. (AP)—
Hampshire County Commissioners want an Akron, Ohio
draft board to grant a deferment to Dr. Gregory Camp, 29,
Director of the Worthington
Health Center and the only physician serving more than 3,000 persons in this area.

In a letter to the draft board,
the commissioners said he was the first doctor the town could recruit for its $150,000 health center, which was without a doctor for more than a year
until he arrived.

Dr. Camp, born in Akron, said
he serves a 15-town area and there is only one other doctor
within 15 miles.

NEW YORK (AP)—Construction of new houses across
the country is off sharply this year as interest rates climb.
Many families are having trouble borrowing money to buy
new homes.

"Home building has all but
been shattered by tight money,"
said Burton E. Smith, president
of the California Real Estate
Association. "I never have seen
it so tight, so bad. If and when building starts up again, it will take the builders two years to

An Associated Press survey of
major cities found:
Housing starts in Southern California this year have been
the lowest since 1944.

In Dallas, they are the lowest
in six years, with apartment
construction down 39 per cent
and houses 17 per cent.

"With all the hundreds of real estate offices in Dallas, only 12
deals were made in the whole
city in half a week," said Mrs.
Maude Thompson, a Dallas real estate agent. "Usually it's 80 or
so a week."

GI Hospitalized With Meningitis

YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—A young serviceman on leave from Ft. Benning, Ga., has been hospitalized at North Side Hospital with a case of contagious spinal meningitis, it was learned Tuesday.

The family physician says
William Brittain, 18, of Youngstown, apparently acquired the disease at Ft. Benning and that the U.S. Army has been notified. Brittain was reported in fair condition.

Talks Resume

GE Strike Would Hurt War Effort

WASHINGTON (AP)—Negotiations in the General Electric Corp. labor dispute got down to hard bargaining today after hearing a special White House
panel warn that a strike would seriously hurt the Viet Nam war
effort.

Resumption of the talks—halted since Sunday, when President Johnson won a delay of a threatened nationwide union
walkout—was announced by chief federal mediator William
E. Simpinkin. At odds are the giant electrical company and the AFL-CIO International Union
of Electrical Workers.

Secretary of Defense Robert
S. McNamara, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor exchanged views Tuesday
with company and union negotiators in dual sessions.

McNamara and other defense
officials said at a Pentagon

threaten seriously the flow of military hardware to U.S.
fighting men in Viet Nam. He said this included engines for jet fighters and helicopters, radar
and other electronic equipment,
bomb sights and aircraft weapons.

Both sides agreed to a two-
week extension of present contract terms, beginning at 12:01
a.m. last Monday, so federal officials could try to steer the talks to a settlement.

General Electric has offered a
three-year contract with wage
hikes of 4 per cent the first year
and 3 per cent each in the second and third years, additional increases for higher skilled employees, 6 cents in cost-of-living raises over the three years and
pension and insurance improvements.

The firm offered an additional 3-cent cost-of-living raise if the union agreed to a 42-month contract.

The union is demanding bigger cost-of-living increases, better procedures for settling grievances and other gains to make up for what it calls poor
contracts of earlier years.

The IUE represents about 80,
000 of the 120,000 union workers
involved at about 160 GE plants
around the nation.

Their pay averages about
$2.8 per hour in wages and 45
cents an hour in fringe benefits
under the old contract.

Youth Arrested For Potshotting

CINCINNATI (AP)—An 18-
year-old was arrested Tuesday
night after police said he allegedly fired at children as they walked past his house.

Police had surrounded the home of David Bollinger after children reported they were fired at. Bollinger later came out and surrendered, officers
said.

He was charged with two counts of shooting with intent
to kill and discharging firearms.
He reportedly had a .25 caliber
foreign-made revolver.

Key West Blacked-Out During Night

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane
Inez, growing meaner again
over the warm waters of the Gulf of Mexico, ground today to
an ominous stop, lashing the seas with winds up to 126 miles
an hour.

Blocked by an immense high
pressure system over the gulf,
the killer storm stalled after hitting the Dry Tortugas, 68 miles
west of Key West, with gusts of 114 to 126 mile velocity.

Unable to turn northward toward the upper Gulf Coast
states, Inez now had two logical choices. She could swing back to northeast and strike Florida another blow—this time a more deadly one. Or she could move to the southwest, toward Central America.

Forecasters, dealing with the most unpredictable storm ever
to howl out of the tropics, predicted that Inez would remain
stationary for 24 hours before going on the prowl again.

While she made up her mind,
Inez could suck up warm moisture from the gulf—the stuff
that feeds fury into a hurricane
—and grow more vicious by the hour.

Inez hammered Key West
with 90-mile winds, leaving surprisingly little damage behind.
A killer in the Caribbean, Inez
was just a pesky windstorm in
the Florida Keys.

Key West, the nation's southernmost city, was blacked out
by power failure, but otherwise
the 40,000 residents saw little damage as they emerged from their homes in the blustery backlash of the storm. Trees
were knocked down, awnings blown off, and some house trailers damaged by the wind.

Born in the Atlantic Ocean,
Inez cut a path of death and destruction through the Caribbean Sea, then returned to the Atlantic to lash the Bahamas and Florida.

Now, in her 12th day, she was in the Gulf, with 700,000 square miles of warm tropic water to refuel her engine and new coastal targets in nearly all directions.

Lights blinked out in Key West and hundreds huddled in inside shelters during a wild night
in the blacked-out city.

Hurricane winds continued to rage in the lower Florida Keys
as Inez moved into the Gulf
across the Dry Tortugas, site of
the Fort Jefferson National Monument, 68 miles out of Key West.

In the storm's wake, gusts of gale force continued throughout
the Keys and up to the marshy southern rim of the Florida peninsula.

Along the southeast Florida
"Gold Coast," which suffered
only nuisance damage during a 24-hour hammering by gales up
to 70 miles an hour, conditions
were returning to normal.

Forecasters, baffled for days
by the vicious storm's erratic
movements, wouldn't guess at
her future course beyond to-
gathering strength 300 miles
west of the Keys.

Draft Board Asked To Defer Doctor

WORTHINGTON, Mass. (AP)
— Hampshire County Commissioners want an Akron, Ohio
draft board to grant a deferment to Dr. Gregory Camp, 29,
Director of the Worthington
Health Center and the only physician serving more than 3,000
persons in this area.

In a letter to the draft board,
the commissioners said he was
the first doctor the town could recruit for its $150,000 health
center, which was "without a doctor for more than a year
until he arrived."

Dr. Camp, born in Akron, said
he serves a 15-town area and there is only one other doctor
within 15 miles.

Home Building

In Minneapolis, sales of houses have been down and rentals up.
In Seattle, new housing construction has been down, but sales are up 30 per cent from 1965 in the midst of an economic boom.
In Chicago, George Arquilla Jr., Burns Construction Co. president, said tight money had hurt most of the builders in Chicago, and put some out of business.
In Kansas City, Dale Thompson, president of City Bond and Mortgage, estimated the decline in new starts at 25 to 30 per cent.
The flow of mortgage money for one-family houses has slowed to a trickle, Kansas City builders reported. They said sales had dropped 40 to 50 per cent from 1965.
The builders blame tight money — the difficulty they have in obtaining loans to finance construction of houses and the problems families have in obtaining mortgages to buy the houses.
Thousands of prospective home buyers have had a struggle in getting government-insured Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration loans in recent months.
Lending institutions have been putting their money in other types of loans on which interest rates are higher.
In a move to attract more funds, the government increased the interest rate on FHA and VA-insured mortgages Monday from 5 1/2 to 6 per cent.
The increase makes the rate of return on federally insured mortgages close to the prevailing rates on conventional mortgages, which have averaged about 6.35 per cent.

Death Claims Well-Known Ashville Man

Mr. Charles Lester Pettibone, 62, Ashville, died early today in Doctors Hospital, Columbus, following a brief illness.
Mr. Pettibone was born Sept. 28, 1904, in Pickaway County, the son of Frank and Pearl Crisinger Pettibone. He was a building code consultant for the Society of Plastics Industries. He also was a graduate of South High School, Columbus, and Drake University.
Surviving are his wife, Ruth Pettibone; one son, Herbert of Ashville; one sister, Lula Gregg of Ashville; two brothers, Harold and Ansel of Ashville.
Services will be 1:30 p. m. Friday at the Bastian Funeral Home, Ashville, with the Rev. John Morgan officiating. Burial will be in Harrison Twp. Cemetery.
Friends may call beginning 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at the funeral home.

Boen termed the regulation "objectionable as far as residential areas are concerned."
The solicitor's advice was to enact legislation prohibiting all parking along certain street sections, if council desired an enforcement measure. The matter was tabled.
Fourth Ward Councilman John Simson, during the general report and discussion period, advanced a proposal to locate a fire truck or other equipment south and west of the N&W tracks.
The lack of firefighting facilities below the tracks has been a sore point for many years on the grounds that emergency access to the area can be stalled at any time due to train traffic.
Simson said he has been studying the problem in detail. He said one approach would be to locate a vehicle or other equipment at a designated location, providing volunteer help can legally man the gear in time of emergency.

THE LAWMAKER urged council as a whole to consider the problem. He added that he would be more than happy to work with anyone concerned to ward setting up a feasible plan.
In the way of other business, Solicitor Robbins advised that extension of water service outside the city should be done through City Council action. His comments were in response to an inquiry on a policy that should be followed.
Seeking the recommendation was Ervin F. Leist, local utilities director. He pointed out that the Water Department in past years has been extending service lines beyond the corporate limits.
But he noted that this practice does not hold true for extension of water mains. An ordinance that would have authorized this type of service was defeated last month by council.

Driver Fined $75 in Court For 2 Traffic Violations

Jay Ross, Route 3, was fined $75 and costs in Circleville Municipal Court for two traffic violations.
Ross was charged with driving without a valid operator's license and with failure to yield the right-of-way.
Speeding motorists dominated the Circleville Municipal Court traffic docket today. Fined $15 and costs for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone were:
Anna Mary Barnes, 36, Chillicothe; Flem Spaulding, 22, Columbus; Vernon Adkins, Wayne, W. Va.; Larry L. Lawhorn, Lakewood; Charles Delaney, 44, Oak Hill.

Ernie C. Bragg, 53, Jeffrey, W. Va.; $25 and costs for speeding 85 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

mission and the U.S. embassy in Saigon.
"They have denied, however, that Canadians on the commission have carried messages to Hanoi for the U.S. State Department."
"Informants said that if commission patrolling in the demilitarized zone can dampen down the war in that area, it might be possible to try the same type of disengagement in other regions of Viet Nam."
Meanwhile, the New York Times said that French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville reportedly told President Johnson that North Viet Nam no longer feels it can win a military victory in South Viet Nam.
The Times dispatch from Washington added:
"But the French diplomat also was said to have told the President at their meeting Tuesday that the Hanoi regime is in no mood to negotiate a cease-fire. Couve de Murville explained that Hanoi believes it can keep its troops fighting indefinitely in South Viet Nam and also thinks published U.S. terms for a cease-fire are not clear."
The Times said that "the French diplomat reportedly feels only some dramatic American gesture can convince Hanoi of American good faith."
In Paris, the French cabinet spokesman, Yvon Bourges, said that nothing new emerged from the talks on Viet Nam held in Washington by De Murville and top U.S. officials. Couve de Murville returned to Paris today.

Court Sets Bond in Burglary Case

Two Columbus men arrested by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department Monday night after an alleged burglary attempt at a television shop are being held under $10,000 bond each.
A preliminary hearing was held Tuesday for Charles Arthur Harley, 51, of Columbus. A hearing for his brother, James Parker Harley, 38, is scheduled Oct. 18.
Both men have been charged with grand larceny and with breaking and entering an uninhabited dwelling during the night season.
The elder Harley entered a plea of innocent. He was bound to the Pickaway Grand Jury by Municipal court judge Sterling M. Lamb.
The younger of the two men requested an attorney. The hearing date was delayed until Oct. 18 by Judge Lamb.
The men were apprehended by Deputies Warren Straley and Jim Lockard of the Pickaway Sheriff's staff and Sgt. Vernon Walker of Franklin County Sheriff's office.
They were charged with entering a television and radio shop operated by Wayne Jones of near Meade.

Key West . . .

From that area, depending on the guiding forces of nature, Inez could swing back over Florida toward the Atlantic again, roar into the southern Gulf states or go west to Central America.

At her last landfall, from Palm Beach to Key West, four persons died and more than a dozen were hurt. The storm-related deaths added to the list of victims that totaled hundreds in the Caribbean.

A Fort Lauderdale youth wading in the surf, Charles Taylor, 17, was knocked down by a huge wave and disappeared. Police said they feared he drowned but the body was not found.

In Miami Beach three elderly persons died of heart attacks while rigging storm shutters, police said.

Three big ships were disabled by the mountainous waves, which towered 35 feet in the Gulfstream. All eventually came out of their troubles safely with no injuries reported.

But a Coast Guard cutter sent to the rescue of one of the ships just off Miami Beach's resort row was pushed aground by the surf, just 25 yards from the white sand beach.

A lifeguard carried a line to the wallowing ship and a group of bystanders plunged into the surf in a spontaneous act of helpfulness. The 50 to 75 men, women and children steadied the line while the nine Coast Guardsmen struggled to safety.

Although Inez was only a shadow of the 175-m.p.h. hurricane that battered Guadeloupe, the Dominican Republic, Haiti and Cuba, she has a chance to refuel her engine in the Gulf.

The supply of warm moisture from the blue waters of the Gulf stretches for hundreds of miles.

The path was similar enough to the one taken by history's most destructive hurricane, 1965's Betsy, to be unnerving. Betsy charged through the Caribbean, ripped into the Bahamas, then stalled and back-pedaled through the Keys before plunging into the Gulf and heading for New Orleans.

Funeral Rites Held for 10th Traffic Victim

Funeral services for Gilbert Paul Norris, 52, of Commercial Point, were held Monday in Grove City.

Norris died as a result of injuries suffered when he was struck by a car Friday in Commercial Point.

The driver of the car was 16-year-old Kathleen Brown of Orient.

According to the State Highway Patrol, Norris was walking on the street.

Miss Brown told the officer she could not avoid hitting the man because of oncoming traffic.

No charges were filed in the accident. The death marked Pickaway County's 10th traffic fatality this year.

Mr. Norris is survived by four daughters, one brother and one sister. He was buried in Concord Cemetery.

Communist Losses Climb In Central Viet Fighting

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. air cavalrymen and allied forces pressed relentlessly in on a badly mauled Communist force near the coast of central Viet Nam today and reported a mounting toll of 637 enemy troops killed or captured in four days of fighting.

The helicopter-borne American troops pushing down from the north claimed 43 more North Vietnamese regulars or Viet Cong killed in the last 24 hours of Operation Irving and 60 more captured.

Units of the South Korean Tiger Division, battering at the Reds from the south, said they killed 77 more Communists and captured three. Along with South Vietnamese infantrymen holding the western flank, the allied total reported since Sunday reached 443 enemy killed and an unprecedented 194 captured.

The U.S. air offensive against North Viet Nam was hampered by foul weather, but B52 bombers, flying at high altitudes above the weather, struck twice in South Viet Nam.

The eight-engine jets hit at dawn today against a Communist bivouac and storage area 45 miles northwest of Qui Nhon, about 20 miles north of the allied forces in Operation Irving.

Other formations of B52s struck simultaneously at Viet Cong strongholds in the Seven Mountains area along the Cambodian border 120 miles southwest of Saigon. Their targets were training, resupply and base camp areas of the Viet Cong in flood-swept Chau Doc province.

U.S. pilots flew 125 bombing missions against North Viet Nam Tuesday and lost one plane, the U.S. Command announced. A Navy A4 Skyhawk was shot down, the 392nd U.S. loss reported in the war over the north. The pilot is missing.

U.S. pilots aimed most of their strikes against Communist water traffic and storage buildings. They reported destroying or damaging 75 barges, junks and ferries and more than 50 buildings in staging and storage areas.

U.S. pilots flew 393 sorties against Viet Cong targets in South Viet Nam Tuesday and claimed they destroyed or damaged 263 huts, structures, bunkers and fortified positions and 10 sampans. South Vietnamese pilots flew 169 combat sorties.

Operation Irving on the central coast appeared to be developing into one of the most successful allied campaigns of the war. The size of the enemy force was unknown, but one report said it included elements of North Viet Nam's 610th Division.

Allied casualties were reported light.

As the ground troops drew in closer on their foe in the coastal mountains and lowlands, U.S. and Vietnamese patrol boats kept up a constant watch along the coast to block any attempt of the beleaguered Communists to escape.

The average ratio in the Viet Nam war has been 5 or 6 enemy killed for every one captured, but in Operation Irving it has been less than 2 to 1.

The U.S. cavalrymen reported killing 35 Communists Tuesday in a five-hour battle 25 miles northwest of Qui Nhon. The fighting broke out in a mangrove swamp after enemy gun-fire downed a U.S. observation helicopter, the fourth lost since the operation began. The pilot of the helicopter was injured but his observer escaped unhurt, the spokesman said.

Elsewhere in South Viet Nam 10 American servicemen were killed and 20 others injured in the crash Tuesday of a U.S. Army transport plane at An Khe, the cavalry headquarters 250 miles northeast of Saigon.

A military spokesman said the two-engine plane, carrying 32 persons, crashed into a mountain while making a landing approach in foggy weather. Some of the casualties were wounded servicemen who were being evacuated.

Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, commander of U.S. Marine Forces in Viet Nam, was nicked in the head by a sliver of aluminum Tuesday when an enemy bullet hit his helicopter during a flight to inspect the Marine battle-ground just below the demilitarized zone.

The general, 53, "didn't even ask for a bandaid," a spokesman said. He completed his inspection and flew on to Saigon for a conference.

American troop strength in South Viet Nam passed 321,000 today with the arrival of another brigade of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division at Nha Trang, on the central coast.

The force of about 4,000 soldiers began disembarking from the transport General Gordon and were being flown to the division's headquarters at Pleiku.

Ohioans Disagree On Poverty Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio's U.S. senators, Democrats Frank J. Lausche and Stephen M. Young, disagreed Tuesday in a roll call vote that cut the Senate's anti-poverty authorization bill from $2.5 billion to $1.75 billion.

Lausche voted for the amendment, Young against it. Twenty-three Democrats joined 22 Republicans to pass the amendment 45-27.

Home Building
In Minneapolis, sales of houses have been down and rentals up.
In Seattle, new housing construction has been down, but sales are up 30 per cent from 1965 in the midst of an economic boom.
In Chicago, George Arquilla Jr., Burnside Construction Co. president, said tight money had hurt most of the builders in Chicago, and put some out of business.
In Kansas City, Dale Thompson, president of City Bond and Mortgage, estimated the decline in new starts at 25 to 30 per cent.
The flow of mortgage money for one-family houses has slowed to a trickle, Kansas City builders reported. They said sales had dropped 40 to 50 per cent from 1965.
The builders blame tight money — the difficulty they have in obtaining loans to finance construction of houses and the problems families have in obtaining mortgages to buy the houses.
Thousands of prospective home buyers have had a struggle in getting government-insured Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration loans in recent months. Lending institutions have been putting their money in other types of loans on which interest rates are higher.
In a move to attract more funds, the government increased the interest rate on FHA and VA-insured mortgages Monday from 5 1/4 to 6 per cent.
The increase makes the rate of return on federally insured mortgages close to the prevailing rates on conventional mortgages, which have averaged about 6.35 per cent.

Death Claims Well-Known Ashville Man
Mr. Charles Lester Pettibone, 62, Ashville, died early today in Doctors Hospital, Columbus, following a brief illness.
Mr. Pettibone was born Sept. 28, 1904, in Pickaway County, the son of Frank and Pearl Crisinger Pettibone. He was a building code consultant for the Society of Plastics Industries. He also was a graduate of South High School, Columbus, and Drake University.
Surviving are his wife, Ruth Pettibone; one son, Herbert of Ashville; one sister, Lula Gregg of Ashville; two brothers, Harold and Ansel of Ashville.
Services will be 1:30 p. m. Friday at the Bastian Funeral Home, Ashville, with the Rev. John Morgan officiating. Burial will be in Harrison Twp. Cemetery.
Friends may call beginning 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at the funeral home.

Boen termed the regulation "objectionable as far as residential areas are concerned."
The solicitor's advice was to enact legislation prohibiting all parking along certain street sections, if council desired an enforcement measure. The matter was tabled.
Fourth Ward Councilman John Simison, during the general report and discussion period, advanced a proposal to locate a fire truck or other equipment south and west of the N&W tracks.
The lack of firefighting facilities below the tracks has been a sore point for many years on the grounds that emergency access to the area can be stalled at any time due to train traffic.
Simison said he has been studying the problem in detail. He said one approach would be to locate a vehicle or other equipment at a designated location, providing volunteer help

Driver Fined $75 in Court For 2 Traffic Violations
Jay Ross, Route 3, was fined $75 and costs in Circleville Municipal Court for two traffic violations.
Ross was charged with driving without a valid operator's license and with failure to yield the right-of-way.
Speeding motorists dominated the Circleville Municipal Court traffic docket today. Fined $15 and costs for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone were:

mission and the U.S. embassy in Saigon.
"They have denied, however, that Canadians on the commission have carried messages to Hanoi for the U.S. State Department."
"Informants said that if commission patrolling in the demilitarized zone can dampen down the war in that area, it might be possible to try the same type of disengagement in other regions of Viet Nam."
Meanwhile, the New York Times said that French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville reportedly told President Johnson that North Viet Nam no longer feels it can win a military victory in South Viet Nam.
The Times dispatch from Washington added:
"But the French diplomat also was said to have told the President at their meeting Tuesday that the Hanoi regime is in no mood to negotiate a cease-fire. Couve de Murville explained that Hanoi believes it can keep its troops fighting indefinitely in South Viet Nam and also thinks published U.S. terms for a cease-fire are not clear."
The Times said that "the French diplomat reportedly feels only some dramatic American gesture can convince Hanoi of American good faith."
In Paris, the French cabinet spokesman, Yvon Bourges, said that nothing new emerged from the talks on Viet Nam held in Washington by De Murville and top U.S. officials. Couve de Murville returned to Paris today.

Elks Install 3 Members
Initiated into the Circleville BPO Elks Lodge Tuesday night were Dick Tootle of Route 2, Ralph Hoffman Sr. of 429 S. Court St. and Bob Farrar, 118 Nicholas Drive.
The ritual was conducted by the local corps of officers.
The meeting and initiation ceremonies were preceded by a roast beef dinner prepared by Jimmy Carpenter and his crew.
Harry H. Stroop Jr., district deputy grand exalted ruler, conducted an inspection of the lodge.

Court Sets Bond in Burglary Case
Two Columbus men arrested by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department Monday night after an alleged burglary attempt at a television shop are being held under $19,000 bond each.
A preliminary hearing was held Tuesday for Charles Arthur Harley, 51, of Columbus. A hearing for his brother, James Parker Harley, 38, is scheduled Oct. 18.
Both men have been charged with grand larceny and with breaking and entering an unhabited dwelling during the night season.
The elder Harley entered a plea of innocent. He was bound to the Pickaway Grand Jury by Municipal court judge Sterling M. Lamb.
The younger of the two men requested an attorney. The hearing date was delayed until Oct. 18 by Judge Lamb.
The men were apprehended by Deputies Warren Straley and Jim Lockard of the Pickaway Sheriff's staff and Sgt. Vernon Walker of Franklin County Sheriff's office.
They were charged with entering a television and radio shop operated by Wayne Jones of near Meade.

Key West . . .
From that area, depending on the guiding forces of nature, Inez could swing back over Florida toward the Atlantic again, roar into the southern Gulf states or go west to Central America.
At her last landfall, from Palm Beach to Key West, four persons died and more than a dozen were hurt. The storm-related deaths added to the list of victims that totaled hundreds in the Caribbean.
A Fort Lauderdale youth wading in the surf, Charles Taylor, 17, was knocked down by a huge wave and disappeared. Police said they feared he drowned but the body was not found.
In Miami Beach three elderly persons died of heart attacks while rigging storm shutters, police said.
Three big ships were disabled by the mountainous waves, which towered 35 feet in the Gulfstream. All eventually came out of their troubles safely with no injuries reported.
But a Coast Guard cutter sent to the rescue of one of the ships just off Miami Beach's resort row was pushed aground by the surf, just 25 yards from the white sand beach.
A life guard carried a line to the wallowing ship and a group of bystanders plunged into the surf in a spontaneous act of helpfulness. The 50 to 75 men, women and children steadied the line while the nine Coast Guardsmen struggled to safety.
Although Inez was only a shadow of the 175-m.p.h. hurricane that battered Guadeloupe, the Dominican Republic, Haiti and Cuba, she has a chance to refuel her engine in the Gulf.
The supply of warm moisture from the blue waters of the Gulf stretches for hundreds of miles.
The path was similar enough to the one taken by history's most destructive hurricane, 1965's Betsy, to be unnerving. Betsy charged through the Caribbean, ripped into the Bahamas, then stalled and backedpedaled through the Keys before plunging into the Gulf and heading for New Orleans.

Funeral Rites Held for 10th Traffic Victim
Funeral services for Gilbert Paul Norris, 52, of Commercial Point, were held Monday in Grove City.
Norris died as a result of injuries suffered when he was struck by a car Friday in Commercial Point.
The driver of the car was 16-year-old Kathleen Brown of Orient.
According to the State Highway Patrol, Norris was walking on the street.
Miss Brown told the officer she could not avoid hitting the man because of oncoming traffic.
No charges were filed in the accident. The death marked Pickaway County's 10th traffic fatality this year.
Mr. Norris is survived by four daughters, one brother and one sister. He was buried in Concord Cemetery.
Emergency Staff Treats Three
Three persons were treated Tuesday in the Emergency Room at Berger Hospital. All were released.
Charles Martin, 33, Columbus, was treated after he fell in a shower room and injured his right arm.
Carl Ramey, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ramey, Route 3, fell at home and lacerated his forehead.
Larry Carpenter, 21, of 339 E. High St., was treated after he lacerated his left hand while working at Lincoln Molded Plastics.

Jury Completed For Dodge Trial
FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — The jury box was filled Tuesday for the murder trial of Arthur Dodge, but the prosecution and defense both have challenges left that could result in juror changes.
Dodge, 22, is accused in the shooting deaths of his wife and mother-in-law. He has pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity.

Communist Losses Climb In Central Viet Fighting
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. air cavalrymen and allied forces pressed relentlessly in on a badly mauled Communist force near the coast of central Viet Nam today and reported a mounting toll of 637 enemy troops killed or captured in four days of fighting.
The helicopter-borne American troops pushing down from the north claimed 43 more North Vietnamese regulars or Viet Cong killed in the last 24 hours of Operation Irving and 60 more captured.
Units of the South Korean Tiger Division, battering at the Reds from the south, said they killed 77 more Communists and captured three. Along with South Vietnamese infantrymen holding the western flank, the allied total reported since Sunday reached 443 enemy killed and an unprecedented 194 captured.
The U.S. air offensive against North Viet Nam was hampered by foul weather, but B52 bombers, flying at high altitudes above the weather, struck twice in South Viet Nam.
The eight-engine jets hit at dawn today against a Communist bivouac and storage area 45 miles northwest of Qui Nhon, about 20 miles north of the allied forces in Operation Irving.
Other formations of B52s struck simultaneously at Viet Cong strongholds in the Seven Mountains area along the Cambodian border 120 miles southwest of Saigon. Their targets were training, resupply and base camp areas of the Viet Cong in flood-swept Chau Doc province.
U.S. pilots flew 125 bombing missions against North Viet Nam Tuesday and lost one plane, the U.S. Command announced. A Navy A4 Skyhawk was shot down, the 392nd U.S. loss reported in the war over Viet Nam. The pilot is missing.
U.S. pilots aimed most of their strikes against Communist water traffic and storage buildings. They reported destroying or damaging 75 barges, junks and ferries and more than 30 buildings in staging and storage areas.
U.S. pilots flew 393 sorties against Viet Cong targets in South Viet Nam Tuesday and claimed they destroyed or damaged 263 huts, structures, bunkers and fortified positions and 10 sampans. South Vietnamese pilots flew 169 combat sorties.
Operation Irving on the central coast appeared to be developing into one of the most successful allied campaigns of the war. The size of the enemy force was unknown, but one report said it included elements of North Viet Nam's 610th Division.
Allied casualties were reported light.
As the ground troops drew in closer on their foe in the coastal mountains and lowlands, U.S. and Vietnamese patrol boats kept up a constant watch along the coast to block any attempt

District Head Is Guest at Lions Meeting
Members of Circleville Lions Club and their wives met at Wardell's Party Home near Williamsport at 7 p. m. yesterday for the annual Governor's Night.
Merle Hartle of Piketon, Lion district governor, gave the address. The governor said the Lions will celebrate Lionism's Golden Anniversary Jan. 15, 1967 in Columbus.
Plans are being made for Lionism's International Convention in Chicago. According to Hartle, a ship loaded with Care packages for all parts of the world will leave Chicago as part of the convention program.
Gov. Hartle pointed out the seven schools Lions have built in Central and South America and many other schools and hospitals around the world has truly made the club known as "International ambassadors of good will."
HE CLOSED by saying our realizations of tomorrow depends on our doubts of today.
Hartle was presented a gift by the club and Mrs. Hartle was given the table decoration.
Guests included International counselor and Mrs. Arthur Fisher of Chillicothe.
Nolan Sims, president of the local club, announced that four categories for the bread-growing contest are handlebar mustache, nicest trip, woolly and best representation of a trademark.
Prizes will be offered in each category and shaving permits will be available from Lion members.

Understanding Youth

Scientists, some leading educators, businessmen and many parents say school is "too easy" — that there are too many ways for youngsters to slide by and that there is not enough challenge for bright pupils. Now come some teenagers who say the same. A high school pupils' publication reports the reaction of American youngsters. The boys and girls say high school is a "snap" because:

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — Less than two years after seeding its first retired American businessman ashore in a less developed land, the "Paunch Corps" is lean and trim and working hard.

The corps, a relative in ideals to the Peace Corps, completed its 100th project this week, has 300 more jobs scheduled for this year, and hopes eventually to handle 500 projects a year.

Each job will be at the request of a foreign businessman — not his government — in a free-enterprise economy. All jobs will be in relatively undeveloped lands. None will be in Europe or the Soviet Union.

"We proved our point," said a spokesman in the jammed Manhattan headquarters. "We found out the idea works. We are willing to concede less than 10 percent of the projects will be unsuccessful, and we're ahead of that goal now."

The corps tolerates the nickname "Paunch Corps" for lack of another. Its initials, for example, produce the vocally unpalatable IESC. Its full name is the International Executive Service Corps.

Heading the corps is Frank Pace Jr., former secretary of the Army and former chairman of General Dynamics Corp. His staff of 47 paid employees crowds into one floor of a narrow Fifth Avenue building and a small annex across the street.

Requests from foreign companies are processed here, men are briefed and debriefed, searches go on constantly for men with specific skills. The foreign companies pay a management fee and round-trip transportation. The corps pays expenses, usually $20 to $40 a day. The corpsman gets no pay.

More often than before, the man chosen is not retired. Instead he is a key man whose employer agrees to a leave of absence at company expense. Some on the availability roster are in their 30s.

At first the corps believed single projects might take two years, but a goal of six months was set.

"Now we find three or four months is long enough to do the job," the spokesman said.

"Then they get out."

Getting out is important. A highly placed native management man, for example might fear competition if the American stayed around to kibitz.

The growing number of requests for assistance is cited by IESC as proof of the need and acceptance from abroad. And the growing number of available consultants is offered as

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:

Since opponents of the airport site have made their thoughts known via a petition to the county commissioners, we'd like to voice our support for the airport and the Washington Twp. site.

Our property adjoins the proposed site. Therefore, if there was anything to lose by the proximity of an airstrip it would hurt us more than the majority of the 162 persons who signed the petition. But we feel that Circleville and Pickaway County have everything to gain and the residents of the area will not lose.

As for the site selection, it appears the most logical choice. The county already owns most of the land. How many of the petition signers would be willing to raise the $30,000 or more that the county would need to purchase another site?

The petitioners claim activities associated with an airport are inconsistent with the characteristics of a residential area. This statement appears to indicate that the signers have no idea of the type of airport planned. It is not Port Columbus, it will not be Port Columbus in 10 years. The airport will not be able to accommodate commercial airliners and will not, by the furthest stretch of the imagination, be the scene of constant air travel.

The petitioners second contention, regarding possible danger to property values, is such an old saw it hardly deserves comment. Probably when the Egyptians built the sphinx, somebody panicked about property values.

We also understand that some of the opponents of the airport site are concerned that the airplanes — the small craft that would be able to use a short strip — will frighten animals. Considering the number of North American test flights and Lockheed Air Force Jets that fly over the area, the animals should have all been frightened to death by now.

Circleville needs an airport for its industrial and recreational fliers. It took long enough for the commissioners to get moving on the project. Let's get with it.

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Workers at an automobile repair shop here answer the phone with the words, "body shop."

Several workers reported apparent wrong phone numbers when their response brought silence and a disconnect signal.

They learned the repair shop phone number was similar to that of a local mortuary. They quickly changed the wording of their telephone response.

A MAN WHO obviously had only a brief hour left to live seized the hand of his priest and whispered in his ear, "When I was about eight years old, I twisted a road sign

The great French novelist, Balzac, spent a long, boring evening with some very rich, but very pompous and dull society acquaintances. Finally he got home, removed his uncomfortable duds, went to his library, looked with love over his treasured volumes, and murmured to himself, "Now for some REAL friends!"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

Are there different kinds of high blood pressure? High blood pressure, or hypertension, is usually considered as having two types.

The first is called primary or essential hypertension. No distinct cause for this type of high blood pressure has been definitely established. There seems to be some family tendency for this type of increased blood pressure.

The other type is referred to as secondary or organic hypertension. The cause of this type is usually traced to some disease of the heart, the arteries, the kidneys and to imbalance of the hormones of the thyroid and the adrenal glands.

Essential hypertension does not progress but should be kept under constant observation by the physician. Control of weight and reduction of fats, fried foods, creams and butter is important. Exercise in moderation and avoidance of emotional stress can keep this type of hypertensive person in normal activity in the home and in the job. Tobacco should be given up because it further narrows the blood vessels and increases the blood pressure.

Organic hypertension tends to progress at a slow rate especially if the underlying cause is neglected. There are now many remarkable drugs which, when carefully chosen and administered regularly, can keep the high blood pressure patient a healthy and productive human being. There are few conditions that need the constant close co-operation between patient and the doctor as does hypertension.

How serious is a condition when the skin becomes yellow? A yellow discoloration of the skin, or jaundice, is not in itself a disease. Jaundice is a symptom that can be caused by any one of many diseases. Jaundice simply indicates that there is some malfunction in the liver, the gall bladder or in the blood stream.

Hepatitis, an inflammation of the liver, may produce jaundice. An obstruction to the normal flow of bile from the liver to the intestines may back up the bile into the blood stream and cause jaundice. Stones in the gall bladder, tumors and certain types of anemia can cause yellowish discoloration. Jaundice sometimes occurs in the newborn because of the dis-

Free Chinese Concept

TAIPEI, Taiwan — In Washington before making a visit to the Far East I was told that Chiang Kai-shek had offered "two divisions" of his 600,000-man army to the U. S. for use in Vietnam. They don't seem to have heard of this in Taiwan. Chiang Ching-kuo, the Minister of Defense who happens also to be Generalissimo Chiang's oldest son, says the Free Chinese see no point in sending divisions to fight a purely defensive war in the jungle.

Chiang Ching-kuo phrased his remarks on this very delicately. He said he had great admiration for what we were doing in South Vietnam. But as long as the U. S. has no plans to invade North Vietnam, he thinks it would serve no purpose for Taiwan to detach troops from an island bastion that sits menacingly on Mao Tse-tung's flank and send them into a battle that does not promise to strike at the source of the enemy's power in Peking on the mainland. The Free Chinese, he says, are doing more to help the U. S. by keeping a big Red Chinese force immobile in the Fochow military district opposite Taiwan.

It developed in the course of an interview conducted through an interpreter that the last thing in the world the Free Chinese want is help from American ground troops in invading the mainland. The feeling is that the sight of white men fighting on Chinese soil would boomerang against the Free Chinese. As Chiang Ching-kuo sees it, the recapture of the mainland by the legally constituted Chiang Kai-shek government will mark the end of a purely civil war. It must be fought and won by Chinese against Chinese if it is to have permanent meaning.

This does not mean that Chiang Ching-kuo would not like logistical support in any forthcoming mainland invasion. The Republic of China is incapable of manufacturing big bombers and mass-produced landing craft. But Chiang Ching-kuo does not consider that the U. S. would be doing the Free Chinese a wholly disinterested favor in providing logistical help. As he sees it, it is rather the other way around. The U. S. would be doing the "favor" to itself. For "one-tenth" of what the U. S. is spending to fight in South Vietnam, our logistical aid would produce victory against the disintegrating Mao regime on the mainland. This, according to Chiang Ching-kuo, would save countless U. S. lives in the future, for it would nip the Red Chinese before they have gained the full atomic power necessary to unleash World War III, which Mao thinks would end in victory for the nation with the biggest population. In other words, Chiang Ching-kuo is trying to solve the current "quagmire" problems of the U. S. and at the same time solve his own. This is seeing things with stark Chinese logic. It does not follow that Americans, who shrink from applying logical reasoning to questions that involve war, can be made to see it that way to all. In Taiwan it seems absurd to think that Mao Tse-tung cares in the least about reaching an accommodation with the U. S. To Chiang Ching-kuo, Mao Tse-tung, as the man who could be the signal to his rampaging Red Guards, is a "lunatic" who even "surpasses Hitler." The Taiwan view is that there will be no peace with this man, either inside the United Nations or outside it. But the view from Taiwan does not reckon with the subjective hunger for peace in the bosoms of high-minded U. S. college chaplains or women's club supporters of UNESCO and "atomic disarmament." Chiang Ching-kuo is sure that people with "vision and foresight" is the U. S. agree with him. He seemed entirely relaxed about the future. He corroborated what his father said in another interview, that events would, at some indeterminate date, pull the rug from under Mao Tse-tung's bloody dictatorship. The current purges and Red Guard troubles in the mainland are taken as a complete confirmation of Chiang Kai-shek's long-term analysis of the situation. Sooner or later — and now it appears that it may be "sooner" — the opportunity to exploit dissension on the mainland will present itself in a "once in a thousand years" chance. Says Chiang Ching-kuo, it would be "unthinkable" to miss the boat.

COMSAT'S NEWEST—The Comsat Corporation's newest satellite gets a final checkup high over Los Angeles before being sent to Cape Kennedy for a late October launch. It is suspended from a boom at Hughes Aircraft's antenna test range. It is bigger and more powerful than its predecessor, Early Bird. This is one of four being built. A second will be launched in November, and two will be held in reserve. The satellites will provide space communications across the Atlantic and Pacific, linking two-thirds of the world, and also will provide communications for the Apollo astronauts.

CANCER FAMILIES

Q. Does cancer run in certain families?
A. Perhaps a safe answer to this question is a qualified "yes." Members of certain families seem to be "cancer prone." Very simple hereditary patterns have been shown to exist in cancer-susceptible and cancer-resistant laboratory animals. In man, however, the pattern is not at all simple, except for a very few types of cancer. It would seem wise for members of families with a high cancer rate to be examined frequently. Early detection of cancer can improve the prospects for a favorable outcome.

JAW CLICKS

Q. My jaw clicks when I chew. What should I do?
A. Go right on chewing. The clicks will probably disappear in time. However, if the clicking is associated with pain or if the jaw tends to "lock," consult an oral surgeon.

NIGHT JERKS

Q. From time to time my leg or arm will jerk just as I fall to sleep. Is something wrong?
A. Probably not. Nearly everyone is annoyed or puzzled at some time by such spasms. It is difficult to be certain just how often such spasms must occur to be considered abnormal. There is no reason to believe that the occasional muscular jerk is due to anything more than fatigue.

There are too many elective courses;

too much emphasis on extra-curricular activities; classes are geared to abilities of slow learners; students are given passing grades because schools are too crowded to hold them back; neither parents nor teachers demand enough.

Most interesting, they suggest the need for longer class sessions, more math, science and foreign languages and more stringent grading standards and stiffer college entrance requirements.

Youth Grange Post Goes To Dunkle

PAUL DUNKLE

Dorsey Bumgardner, worthy master of the Pickaway Pomona Grange has appointed Paul M. Dunkle as the county youth chairman for the coming year. He succeeds Harold Furniss who held the position for many years.

Dunkle is a member of Saltcreek Valley Grange No. 2314 where he holds the office of lecturer and serves as chairman of the youth committee. Since joining the Grange in 1956 he held many offices in the Vin-ton County Granges before coming to Pickaway County.

Currently he is the Ohio State Grange Prince. This past summer he was pianist for the youth camps held at Kelley's Island.

The past year he served the Pickaway county youth group as president of the council; chaplain on the ritualism team; installing officer on the drama division of the youth group. This Grange year he is pianist for the installation team and in charge of the drills.

Dunkle has taken all seven degrees in the organization and at the national convention in Topeka, Kan., he served on the National Recreation Committee. In 1955 he won the State Reading contest in the Grange Talent Festival finals.

The youth chairman is elementary music teacher for the Circleville City Schools. He is a member of St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

2 Countians Scheduled for Legal Oaths

Two Pickaway Countians will receive their certificates of admission to practice law Oct. 19 during a special session of the Ohio Supreme Court.

Scheduled to be inducted into office as attorneys and counselors at law are Richard L. Gerhardt of 1111 Atwater Ave. and John W. Noecker of Route 1, Ashville. The session will start at 2 p. m. in the Supreme Court Hearing Room, State House Annex.

The induction will be for those who successfully passed bar examinations conducted recently by the Supreme Court's Committee on Admissions.

Judge Louis J. Schneider Jr. will deliver an address of welcome to the inductees on behalf of the court. The oath of office will be administered by Judge Paul W. Brown. Chief Justice Kingsley A. Taft will preside at the ceremony.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — An undertaker isn't necessarily the right man for a chicken farm, particularly if his idea of raising chickens is to beat them with a stick and scare them with a fog horn.

Mao Tse-tung, 72, who buried ancient China, is using a stick and a horn on the modern Chinese, and making a mess of it, even though right now they sound as docile as chickens trying to say yes.

This month the Red Chinese celebrated the 17th anniversary of the Mao-led revolution which captured all mainland China for communism. Without question he is one of the supreme revolutionary leaders and guerrilla fighters.

His regime unified a chaotic and impoverished country. But then he had the task of taking it into the 20th century as fast as possible, with all that meant in industrialization and everything else.

This is where he revealed, despite himself, that an undertaker may not be a good chicken farmer, that a great revolutionary leader may be out of place trying to guide and run a country which needs to organize itself.

Many Chinese, judging from the repeated purges of his critics, seem to realize his deficiency but their voices have been hushed with terror. Yet his terror tactics seem to say he has the same realization himself.

As an authoritarian most of his life, perhaps in part the upside-down product of his resentment against his stern father, it is not hard to see why he would try to destroy any dissent.

It would jeopardize his dream of China as he thinks it ought to be and challenge his rightness and fitness for his present role of omniscient patriarch. If dissent prevailed, it would diminish his place in history.

Yet he can't escape the realization, since he saw it happen with Stalin, that the ideas of yesterday's leader may prove out of date tomorrow. Mao is trying to make yesterday last forever. He is having himself deified.

The result: The Chinese people are being clubbed into iron conformity and into subservience to him, his sayings have become the Chinese bible, all criticism is being rendered impossible, and the sanctity of Mao is being shouted into their skulls.

He knows well the tradition of the cunning Chinese superman and demonstrated it in 1956 when, to find his hidden or potential critics, he conned them into coming out in the open.

"Let a hundred flowers bloom," he said, "let a hundred schools of thought contend." With this assurance, the critics opened up, and he crushed them.

In 1958 he showed his inadequacy as a peacetime leader when, with the "great leap forward," he plunged headlong into his greatest disaster. The "leap" was supposed to modernnize China in a hurry.

Agriculture — thanks, also, to bad weather — collapsed, food was rationed, and farmers and workers, driven beyond endurance by malnutrition, became apathetic. By 1960 the "leap" was abandoned.

Meanwhile, through clumsiness, stupidity and cupidity, Red China's foreign relations became a disaster, too. Most Communist countries were alienated or made hostile. Relations with India were ruined because of China's impatience for expansion. And China lost ground in one backward country after another.

This is a wretched record but, since Mao has the army behind him, the critics among the Chinese people can do nothing. And now, as he advances into old age, Mao is more obsessed than ever with fear of new and different voices.

He is using the Red Guard — multitudes of youthful hooligans with license for brutality — to beat and cow any who are not already in abject conformity.

Century's Best 'Passport' Is Press Card

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—"Men committed to politics, public policies, creeds and philosophies will always try to influence the news to their cause," Associated Press General Manager Wes Gallagher said Tuesday night.

Therefore, the news service executive said, such men "find standing in their way the journalist who is dedicated only to serve his readers with the truth as best he can find it."

Gallagher presented a foundation lecture at Ohio University for Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society.

He said journalism today requires people better trained and better equipped than ever before.

"It requires not only sympathetic understanding of mankind, but a cold objective analysis of how mankind meets the problem of this age," he added.

Dissent of official viewpoints is often termed unpatriotic, he said, "and press freedom in some countries has meant the freedom to go to jail."

But journalism offers more than challenges to young people, Gallagher said.

"The best passport to adventure in the 20th Century is a press pass. Being a reporter is like having a seat on the 50-yard line watching history as it happens. His job is to keep the box score," said Gallagher.

Gallagher's "passport" has taken him to 65 countries as a reporter and he has helped keep the "box score" for five national political conventions and three wars.

His speech here was one of three Sigma Delta Chi foundation lectures in the United States this year.

PAUL DUNKLE

Dorsey Bumgardner, worthy master of the Pickaway Pomona Grange has appointed Paul M. Dunkle as the county youth chairman for the coming year. He succeeds Harold Furniss who held the position for many years.

Dunkle is a member of Saltcreek Valley Grange No. 2314 where he holds the office of lecturer and serves as chairman of the youth committee. Since joining the Grange in 1956 he held many offices in the Vinton County Granges before coming to Pickaway County.

Currently he is the Ohio State Grange Prince. This past summer he was pianist for the youth camps held at Kelley's Island.

The past year he served the Pickaway county youth group as president of the council; chaplain on the ritualism team; installing officer on the installing team and head of the drama division of the youth group. This Grange year he is pianist for the installation team and in charge of the drills.

Dunkle has taken all seven degrees in the organization and at the national convention in Topeka, Kan., he served on the National Recreation Committee. In 1965 he won the State Reading contest in the Grange Talent Festival finals.

The youth chairman is elementary music teacher for the Circleville City Schools. He is a member of St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

2 Countians Scheduled for Legal Oaths

Two Pickaway Countians will receive their certificates of admission to practice law Oct. 19 during a special session of the Ohio Supreme Court.

Scheduled to be inducted into office as attorneys and counselors at law are Richard L. Gerhardt of 1111 Atwater Ave. and John W. Noecker of Route 1, Ashville. The session will start at 2 p. m. in the Supreme Court Hearing Room, State House Annex.

The induction will be for those who successfully passed bar examinations conducted recently by the Supreme Court's Committee on Admissions.

Judge Louis J. Schneider Jr. will deliver an address of welcome to the inductees on behalf of the court. The oath of office will be administered by Judge Paul W. Brown, Chief Justice Kingsley A. Taft will preside at the ceremony.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — An undertaker isn't necessarily the right man for a chicken farm, particularly if his idea of raising chickens is to beat them with a stick and scare them with a fog horn.

Mao Tse-tung, 72, who buried ancient China, is using a stick and a horn on the modern Chinese, and making a mess of it, even though right now they sound as docile as chickens trying to say yes.

This month the Red Chinese celebrated the 17th anniversary of the Mao-led revolution which captured all mainland China for communism. Without question he is one of the supreme revolutionary leaders and guerrilla fighters.

His regime unified a chaotic and impoverished country. But then he had the task of taking it into the 20th century as fast as possible, with all that meant in industrialization and everything else.

This is where he revealed, despite himself, that an undertaker may not be a good chicken farmer, that a great revolutionary leader may be out of place trying to guide and run a country which needs to organize itself.

Many Chinese, judging from the repeated purges of his critics, seem to realize his deficiency but their voices have been hushed with terror. Yet his terror tactics seem to say he has the same realization himself.

As an authoritarian most of his life, perhaps in part the upside-down product of his resentment against his stern father, it is not hard to see why he would try to destroy any dissent.

It would jeopardize his dream of China as he thinks it ought to be and challenge his rightness and fitness for his present role of omniscient patriarch. If dissent prevailed, it would diminish his place in history.

Yet he can't escape the realization, since he saw it happen with Stalin, that the ideas of yesterday's leader may prove out of date tomorrow. Mao is trying to make yesterday last forever. He is having himself deified.

The result: The Chinese people are being clubbed into iron conformity and into subservience to him, his sayings have become the Chinese bible, all criticism is being rendered impossible, and the sanctity of Mao is being shouted into their skulls.

He knows well the tradition of the cunning Chinese superman and demonstrated it in 1956 when, to find his hidden or potential critics, he conned them into coming out in the open.

"Let a hundred flowers bloom," he said, "let a hundred schools of thought contend." With this assurance, the critics opened up, and he crushed them.

In 1958 he showed his inadequacy as a peacetime leader when, with the "great leap forward," he plunged headlong into his greatest disaster. The "leap" was supposed to modernize China in a hurry.

Agriculture — thanks, also, to bad weather — collapsed, food was rationed, and farmers and workers, driven beyond endurance by malnutrition, became apathetic. By 1960 the "leap" was abandoned.

Meanwhile, through clumsiness, stupidity and cupidity, Red China's foreign relations became a disaster, too. Most Communist countries were alienated or made hostile. Relations with India were ruined because of China's impatience for expansion. And China lost ground in one backward country after another.

This is a wretched record but, since Mao has the army behind him, the critics among the Chinese people can do nothing. And now, as he advances into old age, Mao is more obsessed than ever with fear of new and different voices.

Mrs. Long Hostess for Garden Club

Mrs. Ned Long, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, hosted members of the Monrovia Garden Club Monday when they met for their October meeting.

Mrs. Loring Stier, president, presided over the business meeting. Miss Betty Ann Grall gave devotions. Reports were read and approved. Mrs. Ernestine Dudson was welcomed as a new member.

Plans were made to go on a field trip October 25 at the home of Mr. Floyd Bartley, Pickaway County Horticulture chairman. The group will meet 1 p. m. at the Monroe School. Plans were also completed for the workshop of dried materials which will be held November 7 in the Five Points Methodist Church basement.

New program books were distributed to members. Thank you notes were read from Mr. and Mrs. Howard Grall for the chrysanthemum they received from the club on their Golden Wedding Anniversary and from Laura Long for cards and flowers received while she was sick.

An invitation was read from the Deercreek Garden Club to attend a meeting and silent auction Thursday evening. Several club members plan to attend.

Mrs. Howard Grall talked about "Winterizing Indoor and Outdoors." She also displayed an arrangement of cat-tails in a copper container.

Mrs. Harry Smith brought an arrangement of red and yellow chrysanthemums in a crystal vase for a table setting appropriate for the season.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Long assisted by Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Allen Follroad.

Mrs. Long Hostess for Garden Club

Mrs. Ned Long, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, hosted members of the Monrovia Garden Club Monday when they met for their October meeting.

Mrs. Loring Storer, president, presided over the business meeting. Miss Betty Ann Grabbill gave devotions. Reports were read and approved. Mrs. Ernestine Dudson was welcomed as a new member.

Plans were made to go on a field trip October 25 at the home of Mr. Floyd Bartley, Pickaway County Horticulture chairman. The group will meet 1 p. m. at the Monroe School. Plans were also completed for the workshop of dried materials which will be held November 7 in the Five Points Methodist Church basement.

New program books were distributed to members. Thank you notes were read from Mr. and Mrs. Howard Grabbill for the chrysanthemums they received from the club on their Golden Wedding Anniversary and from Laura Long for cards and flowers received while she was sick.

An invitation was read from the Deercreek Garden Club to attend a meeting and silent auction Thursday evening. Several club members plan to attend.

Mrs. Howard Grabbill talked about "Winterizing Indoor and Outdoor." She also displayed an arrangement of cat-tails in a copper container.

Mrs. Harry Smith brought an arrangement of red and yellow chrysanthemums in a crystal vase for a table setting appropriate for the season.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Long assisted by Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Allen Follroad.

Conservation Women Meet in Patrick Home

The October meeting of the Child Conservation League was held in the home of Mrs. F. O. Patrick, 315 Wood Lane.

It was announced that the Pinner Puppets Show will be held starting 1 p. m. Nov. 12 at the Junior High School. It will be an Marionette Program. "Snow White" will be presented.

The Christmas Tea will be held Dec. 6 in the home of Mrs. Robert May. Members will contribute gifts toward a Christmas basket.

Richard Stoltz talked to the club concerning market exchange and investments. He described why, when and how people should invest. He stated that one should invest only after the family living expenses are taken care of.

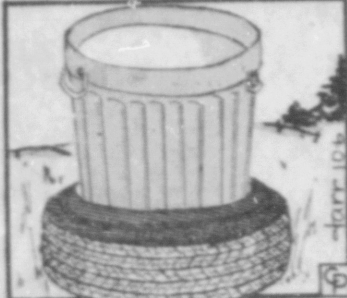

Mr. Stoltz also stated that no investment is guaranteed. He continued saying that after getting the facts, you can invest in stocks for growth or income.

The next meeting will be 6:30 p. m. November 1, for Husband's Night at the L-K Restaurant.

Ladies Auxiliary Slated To Meet

The Fraternal Order of Eagles No. 685 Ladies Auxiliary will meet 8 p. m. Thursday in the Aerie home.

Miss Sharrett Is Guest at Society Meet

Delta Kappa Gamma Teacher's Society met Monday at the home of Mrs. Dick T. Tootle, Route 2. The assisting hostesses, Mrs. Pearl Porter, Mrs. Lois Brobst and Mrs. Marjorie Evans, served dessert to members and guests.

The program featured Miss Sharon Sharrett who showed slides and gave an account of her recent experiences in the cities and villages in three states of India. She said the land of the sacred cow, the veiled women and the holy Ganges is aware of the importance of rapid industrialization, but India's production has barely scratched the surface of her demand.

Miss Sharrett said she and other exchange students from America are welcome in India. Where American educational influence is changing a people who have changed little in the five thousand or more years of India's known history.

A short business meeting followed the program. The next meeting will be on Nov. 9 at the home of Mrs. Robert Tacy, 150 Hillcrest Drive.

Diplomats Reluctant To Replace U Thant

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. diplomats know from hard experience that weeks of bargaining and compromise — along with possible aggravation of U.S.-Soviet relations — will precede agreement on a successor to Secretary General U Thant.

The list of those mentioned for the post is not promising. Some have been ticked off as unqualified, while others are obviously unacceptable to all the big powers.

That is why the diplomats have been reluctant to begin the search until they are convinced that Thant will not reconsider his decision to step down at the end of the year.

The choice of a secretary-general involves a large element of chance, and the question in the minds of many is how long the United Nations can count on getting such men as Thant, Dag Hammarskjöld and Trygve Lie.

Under the U.N. Charter the office of secretary-general is open to all. In practice many distinguished leaders are barred by unwritten law, tradition and the threat of a big power veto. It has been accepted by now that the secretary-general must come from a small, nonaligned country and must be acceptable to all the big powers. This narrows the field to those who have either been relatively obscure or who have avoided involvement in major controversies.

As Lie himself tells it, "It was generally agreed that he secretary-general should not be an give too much to a single member nation. The United States itself took the view that an American should not be secretary-general."

The big powers decided each would have a representative in the "cabinet" of the secretary-general. This was put into practice by Lie, although he felt that this decision encroached on his own authority to select his assistants.

Some of the men eventually selected under this arrangement went on to establish themselves as international figures, although none was ever considered eligible to become head of the United Nations. These included Ralph J. Bunche, who won the Nobel Peace Prize for his work in negotiating the Palestine armistice in 1949; Paul G. Hoffman, head of the U. N. Development program;

David Owen, British economist who has been with the United Nations since its beginning; and two top Soviet members of the secretariat, Arkady A. Sobolev and Anatoly Dobrynin. Sobolev later returned as head of the Soviet U. N. Delegation; Dobrynin is now ambassador to Washington.

Except for the fact that they were representatives of big powers any one of this group might have been considered a logical choice for the post of secretary-general.

Tru the United Nations has had a Norwegian, a Swede and a Burmese as secretary-general. But the membership of the organization has undergone a major change since 1945. More than half its 119 members are Asian and African countries.

Names mentioned as Thant's possible successor have come from all parts of the world, but there may be a strong move to choose an African. One difficulty is that most of the African prospects are untried, controversial among the Africans themselves, or are too closely identified with one of the big powers. No strongly backed candidate has emerged.

The job pays $65,000 a year, including salary, entertainment and housing allowances.

Heart Attack Kills Noted Club Owner

NEW YORK (AP) — Sherman Billingsley, who started with an Oklahoma soda pop stand and turned a prohibition speakeasy called the Stork Club into cafe society's favorite night club, died Tuesday in his Manhattan apartment. He was 68.

The club closed a year ago Wednesday after its location was sold. Before it closed, Billingsley had been involved in a long labor feud with his waiters and kitchen help.

In 1944 Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia tried to seize the Stork Club on a charge of making a profit on the sales tax. LaGuardia couldn't make the charge stick and business was soon better than ever.

Newspaper columnists, radio, television and movies spread the Stork Club's fame across the country.

The club still attracted celebrities, and became just as famous for barring a few.

Police said Billingsley's wife, Hazel, told them he had complained of a headache shortly after midnight.

He took some aspirin and went back to sleep, they said. Mrs. Billingsley told police she awoke up at 4:30 a.m. and called the family physician, Dr. Myron C. Patterson, who came to the apartment at 500 E. 83rd St., and pronounced Billingsley dead.

Patterson said death had been

Howe Keeps Cool Under Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold Howe II, commissioner of education, is a big, pipesmoking man who thinks "it's pretty important to keep your patience."

It's fortunate he feels that way.

Because after nine months in his job, Howe has become one of the most heavily criticized public figures in America. Congressmen recently have described him variously as the commissar and czar of education, as a "foul blot on the escutcheon of decency" and as a man who talks like a Communist.

The criticism was triggered by his department's efforts to carry out mandates on public school desegregation.

Howe says "a great many political leaders and others have created a very effective propaganda against what's required by the law . . . (it) has been largely a manufactured smokescreen."

He predicts matter-of-factly that it will continue because, "unfortunately, it gets votes."

Far from being crushed by the burdens of his office, the 48-year-old former prep school history teachers says:

"It's extremely interesting... (to be) obviously involved with the central issues in society, an exciting place to be."

Last week, Howe was called before the House Rules Committee. Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., told him:

"Your field agents are harassing and hammering school officials, telling them to get some Negro children in white schools."

Howe, a 6-foot-3 200-pounder, puffed calmly on his pipe, answered calmly and maintained his reputation for coolness.

What are Howe's main goals for the nation's schools?

He lists two: (1) To make all schools better — especially those in central city areas "whether they're all white or all black or mixed;" and (2) to seek, "with local initiation, some solution to the problem of segregation."

Before he became commissioner of education in January, Howe was executive director of the Learning Institute of North Carolina. Previously, he had a broad background in both public and private schools.

Surprisingly New! Superbly Cadillac!

ELDORADO...world's finest personal car

SEDAN de VILLE...another dramatic Cadillac surprise

INTRODUCING THE 1967 STANDARD OF THE WORLD

You are looking at two of the newest luxury cars ever created. They are typical of Cadillac for 1967. The Fleetwood Eldorado—the world's finest personal car—is the first exciting case in point. Eldorado is a styling masterpiece . . . with its spectacularly long hood, its daring new roof lines and its dramatic rear quarter design. It is also an engineering triumph. For Eldorado is the first car in the world to combine the sure-footed traction of front wheel drive with the maneuverability of variable ratio power steering and the balance of automatic level control. And with all its spirit and action, Eldorado provides unusual five-passenger spaciousness and the quietness and comfort that only Cadillac could create. This brilliant newness also marks the Cadillacs you are most familiar with. For they are the most beautiful Cadillacs of all time . . . with a new forward-sweeping grille and a new side contour that flows from front to rear! And with this new Cadillac look come a number of other achievements . . . the most luxurious interiors in history . . . a new generously padded instrument panel . . . a more responsive Cadillac engine . . . improved variable ratio power steering . . . and a new General Motors-developed energy absorbing steering column. Discover Cadillac for 1967 for yourself . . . at your authorized dealer's. Once you have personally seen and driven these exceptional new automobiles, you'll agree that never before has anything on the highway said new so beautifully . . . or Cadillac so well!

Cleveland To Get SBA Disaster Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tornado that injured at least 20 persons and damaged scores of buildings in southeast Cleveland and nearby suburbs last Thursday night was bad enough to qualify the stricken areas for disaster aid, the Small Business Administration has decided.

Applications will be accepted at the SBA's Cleveland office from owners of homes, businesses, churches and charitable institutions whose property was damaged or destroyed to apply for government loans at 3 percent interest.

CONE-OLISEUR — Even the losers were glad to take a licking in an ice cream eating contest staged in Boston by Howard Johnson's to celebrate the 62nd anniversary of the invention of the ice cream cone. More than 100 youngsters competed in the contest. The winners were awarded more ice cream.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 5, the 278th day of 1966. Here are 87 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1582, Pope Gregory XIII reformed the calendar and decreed Oct. 5 of that year be changed to Oct. 15.

On this date:

In 1813, Tecumseh, the chief of the Shawnee Indians, was killed in the Battle of the Thames in Canada while aiding the British against the United States.

In 1931, the first trans-Pacific nonstop flight was made by Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon.

In 1939, Russia signed a mutual assistance pact with the United States.

In 1953, the New York Yankees became the first baseball club to win five consecutive world championships.

Ten years ago... The United Nations Security Council opened debate on a British-French complaint against Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal.

Five years ago... At least 33 persons were killed and 21 others hurt when a commuter train collided with a repair train in Hamburg West Germany.

One year ago... President Johnson said he would undergo gall bladder surgery.

OPERATION PRAIRIE CASUALTY—Using his rifle and a buddy's shoulder as crutches, a wounded U.S. Marine limps back from battle in Operation Prairie near the Demilitarized Zone separating North and South Viet Nam.

Surprisingly New! Superbly Cadillac!

ELDORADO...world's finest personal car

SEDAN deVILLE...another dramatic Cadillac surprise

INTRODUCING THE 1967 STANDARD OF THE WORLD

You are looking at two of the newest luxury cars ever created. They are typical of Cadillac for 1967. The Fleetwood Eldorado—the world's finest personal car—is the first exciting case in point. Eldorado is a styling masterpiece... with its spectacularly long hood, its daring new roof lines and its dramatic rear quarter design. It is also an engineering triumph. For Eldorado is the first car in the world to combine the sure-footed traction of front wheel drive with the maneuverability of variable ratio power steering and the balance of automatic level control. And with all its spirit and action, Eldorado provides unusual five-passenger spaciousness and the quietness and comfort that only Cadillac could create. This brilliant newness also marks the Cadillacs you are most familiar with. For they are the most beautiful Cadillacs of all time... with a new forward-sweeping grille and a new side contour that flows from front to rear! And with this new Cadillac look come a number of other achievements...the most luxurious interiors in history... a new generously padded instrument panel... a more responsive Cadillac engine... improved variable ratio power steering... and a new General Motors-developed energy absorbing steering column. Discover Cadillac for 1967 for yourself... at your authorized dealer... Once you have personally seen and driven these exceptional new automobiles, you'll agree that never before has anything on the highway said new so beautifully... or Cadillac so well!

SEE AND DRIVE THE EXCITING 1967 CADILLACS NOW ON DISPLAY AT YOUR AUTHORIZED CADILLAC DEALER'S.

Court Hears Naples Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A federal judge's release of Youngstown rackets figure Joey Naples will be considered Oct. 12 by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

Naples has been free since Dec. 23, 1964, when U.S. District Judge Mell G. Underwood in Columbus ordered him released from the state prison on grounds his constitutional rights were violated when he was convicted on a charge of receiving stolen property. Naples, 32, was serving a one to 10 year sentence.

The assistant attorney general on the case, John Cianflona, said in court he believed Naples was deprived of his rights.

Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe fired Cianflona and appealed Underwood's order to the circuit court.

Trip to Ireland Delightful For Mrs. Lanman, Daughters

Mrs. Dale Lanman and daughter Vivian have returned from a delightful trip to Ireland.

The journey was like a reunion for Mrs. Lanman. Northern Ireland is her native country. And it was a "thrill of a lifetime" for her daughters, Vivian and Sheila.

Mrs. Lanman met her husband during World War II when the 5th U. S. Infantry Division was stationed in Northern Ireland. This was her second trip back home since coming to the United States.

A tour of all Ireland was on the Lanman itinerary during the three-week stay. But perhaps the greatest pleasure came during the days they stayed with Mrs. Lanman's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. William Logan, daughters, Heather, 6, and Donna, 10, and an aunt, Miss Agnes Gilchrist.

THE LOGANS live in Newtownards (commonly pronounced new-ton-ards), County Down. The city, about the size of Circleville and located at the edge of Strangford Lough (lake), is Mrs. Lanman's hometown.

Newtownards is the home of the Ulster Print Works which produces beautiful pictures and inscriptions on pure Irish linen. William Ferguson, owner of the firm and long-time friend of Mrs. Lanman's family, was kind enough to give her some samples directly from the printing machines.

The extensive tour included a view of the famous River Shannon, longest in the British Isles and noted for its salmon and trout.

A visit was made to the Boyne River, scene of the Battle of the Boyne between King William of Orange and King James of France. Additional places of interest were Shankill, Limerick, Dublin, Omagh, Drogheda, Carrlingford Lough and Carrlingford Mount-ins, all in the Irish Free State.

Among the County Antrim coast, the mother and daughters visited Belfast, Carrickfergus, Larne, Cushendall, Ballycastle, Portrush, Giant's Causeway, Bushmills (home of Bushmills Whiskey) and numerous other small towns.

Going on down the coast, they stopped at large towns and seaside resorts such as Bangor, Dohagadee, Portaferry, Strangford, Newcastle, Warren Point, Rostrevor, Downpatrick — the site of St. Patrick's grave — and Ballykinnair Camp where the 5th Division trained in WW II.

A JOURNEY to the Mourne Mountains included a visit to the "Silent Valley", a place where no birds are found. They enjoyed tea at the famous Slieve Hotel located at the foot of the highest mountain.

A highlight for daughter Sheila, age 11, was attendance for a few days at Londerderry Public Elementary, the same school her mother attended as a child. The teacher, who arranged lessons to suit the American visitor, termed her "very well educated."

According to Mrs. Lanman, many Irish boys, like our own, sport long hair. She said teenage girls wear the very short mini-skirts, about six inches above the knee.

The local mother and daughters quickly agree that every minute of their trip was both nostalgic and thrilling. As Mrs. Lanman put it: "Everyone should see Ireland. It's impossible to describe the beauty and 40 shades of green found there."

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS had us testing ourselves again Tuesday night. This time it was a sports and physical fitness quiz and it really didn't add up to much except mild amusement.

Of course, this test-taker may just be sore about ending up side of po. I knew which pitch out of three was the baseball strike, but I called the runner out at first when he wasn't. I was able to tell lacrosse from pushball, and a butterfly stroke from the crawl in swimming, but had bad trouble with the identities of record-breaking runners and the burn-up rate of calories during a brisk walk.

This test, unlike earlier ones on driving or income taxes, was a hodge-podge covering everything from Satchel Paige's recipe for longevity to the speed at which baseballs travel, and must really be counted more as entertainment than enlightenment.

Earlier in the evening there was available still another fun and danger filled episode of NBC's "The Girl from U.N.C.L.E." It would seem wise if Mr. Waverly, the U.N.C.L.E. boss fired that April Dancer. She is intrepid all right but too glib for a secret agent. Tuesday night she stumbled around in a spooky dark theatre after a telephone call any member of the audience could have told her was a ruse.

"Petticoat Junction" on CBS has quietly moved into its fourth season as a popular but largely unsung little comedy series. Most episodes — like Tuesday night's — are low key, but there is a pleasant quality about its country-side humor.

The scripts are professional and are handled deftly by the regular performers. In particular, Bea Benaderet, who plays the mother of the three pretty girls, invests her role with a sort of warmer and weary cynicism that goes down very easily.

On a return visit to NBC's "Occasional Wife," it still looked like an amusing show with two exceptionally attractive, bright young stars, Michael Callan and Patricia Harty.

Director Resumes Acting In 'Batman' Feature Role

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "One billion dollars the citizens of Gotham City will pay me, or I will bury them all under one huge cake of ice, exactly like a million years ago!"

The villain delivering this threat was the unlikely of actors to be found on a Batman set: Otto Preminger. At least it appeared to be Otto Preminger, though it was hard to tell with blue make-up covering his egg-bald head and reddish eyebrows flaring.

When he spoke in the familiar Teutonic tones, there could be no doubt that the man in the silver jump suit was the reputedly temperamental Preminger. Yet he seemed the most docile of actors.

"I follow directions implicitly," he insisted. "I always appear on the set on time, and I know my lines perfectly. I am setting a good example for all actors."

Preminger was portraying the latest of the Baman menaces, Mr. Freeze, a diabolical figure who plans to make Gotham City into one huge ice cube unless his demands are met. The director knew his lines but stumbled over "freezy, frost factory," in which he had turned Batman and Robin into human popsicles.

Will they thaw in time to save Gotham City from Mr. Freeze's icy scheme? What's your guess? After finishing his scene, Preminger paused to chat. He generally does his acting behind the camera, but that has not always been true.

"I gave up acting when I was 21," said the director of "Laura," "Forever Amber," "Exodus," etc. "In 1939 I was directing a play, 'Margin For Error,' which called for a Nazi type. A noted German actor was playing the role, but one day in rehearsals he left me a note saying, 'I am going back to Adolf.'"

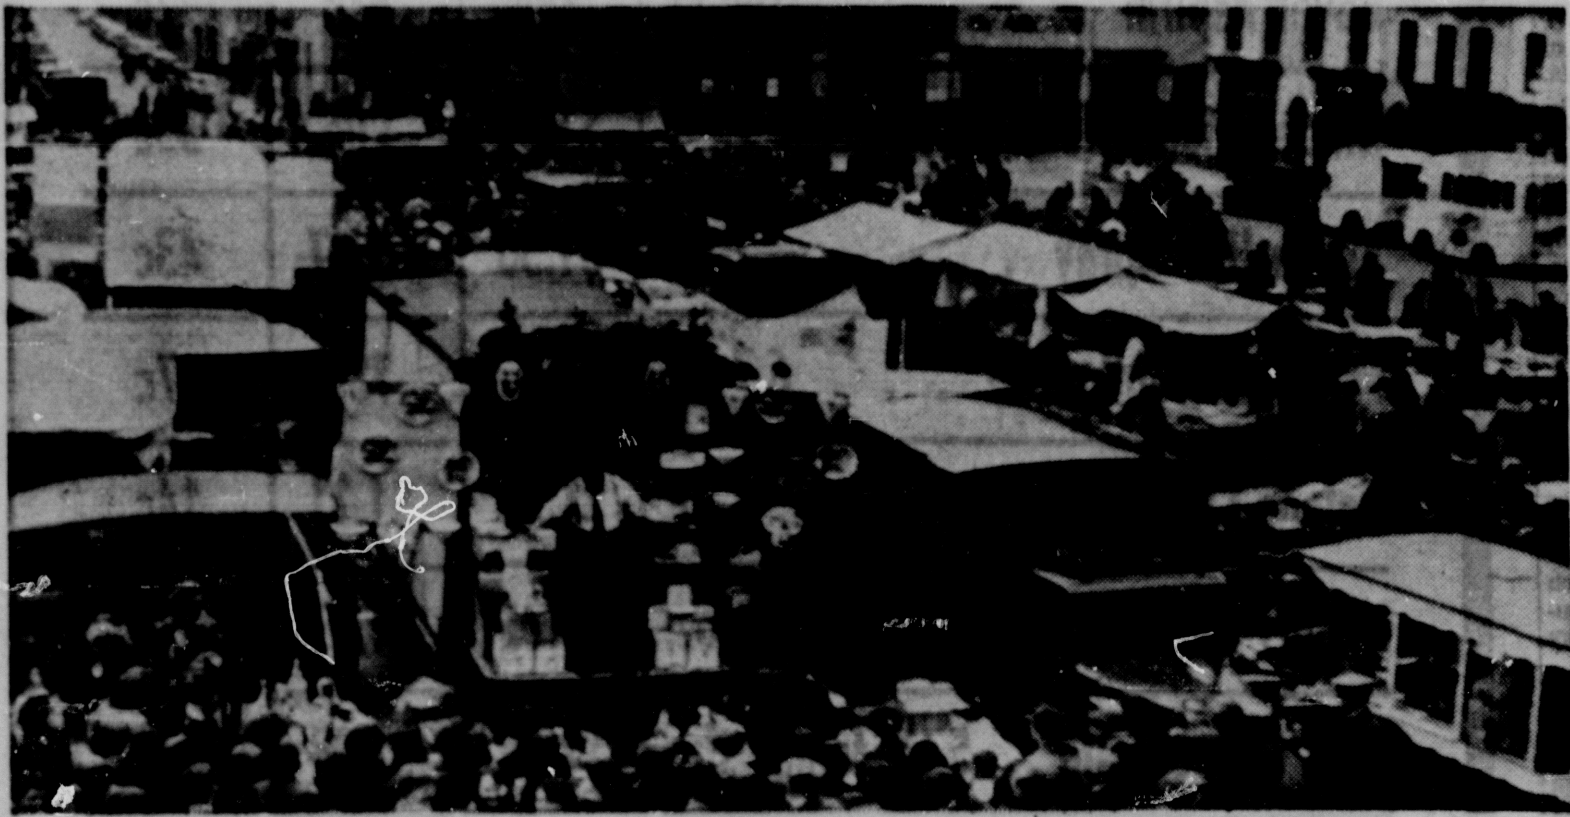

"There were a number of refugee actors in New York then, but all looked too Jewish to play the role. I am Jewish, too, but with a scar and monocle I could look like a Nazi. So I played the role for a year, then came out here for 'Pied Piper' with Monty Woolley, the film version of 'Margin For Error' and one other."

Except for the prison camp commandant in "Stalag 17," Preminger gave up his Nazi portrayals for film making. His return to acting came from the urgings of Batman producer William Dozier and the Preminger twins.

Educational-Work Program, Dues Reviewed by Chamber

Steps to establish an informa- tive program on distributive ed- ucation here and a motion call- ing for a new membership rate schedule were approved Tues- day by directors of the Circle- ville Area Chamber of Com- merce.

The board unanimously agreed to initiate a move that will outline the role of local businesses that take part in distributive education for local students. The DE program, conducted here in conjunction with the local high school, al- lows a prescribed number of students to attend classes for a half-day and then work at downtown stores and firms the remainder of the day.

The need to make local busi- nessmen more aware of the pro- gram was sounded after a dele- gation of mothers, headed by Mrs. Emmitt Dade, visited the meeting for a discussion on the current program. They said their appearance was on behalf of an effort to help their chil- dren find jobs here.

Zarl Palm Chamber presi- dent, said a sincere effort will be made to enlighten all local businesses concerning the DE program. A motion to include a rundown on the local opera- tion in the next issue of the "Chamber Newsletter" as an initial step was approved.

TAKING part in the discus- sion, along with Mrs. Dade, were Mrs. Sam Smith, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Robert Jones and Mrs. John Phifer.

The new Chamber member- ship rate schedule, accepted as proposed by a special finance committee, will reflect an in- crease based mainly on the number of employees. The new figures were proposed following an extensive study that included a comparison with neighboring communities.

The directors also approved a proposed budget of $8,050 for 1967. The budget for this year was $7,500.

Jack Clifton, chairman, re- ported that his nominating committee has compiled a list of candidates for director posts next year. Several will be elected.

In other business, travel di- rectories compiled by Mrs. E. R. Bennett, Chamber secretary- manager, were distributed. The brochures, always in demand by Pumpkin Show visitors, list hotel-motel and eating facilities in this area and other interesting facts concerning the city.

A letter from Miss Rebecca Alkire, Pickaway County's own Miss American Teen-Ager, was read by Mrs. Bennett. She expressed thanks to the Chamber for the thrilling "Welcome Home" extended her following her coronation in New Jersey.

IN OTHER legislative action, the directors approved a motion opposing a bill now before the House of Representatives on community development. Ed Frericks, congressional action chairman, said the measure calls for additional federal con- trols over development in lo- calities of less than 50,000 pop- ulation.

President Palm announced that Asa Elsea will replace Ro- maine Wilson as member of the board. Wilson was forced to resign his two-year term due to a scheduled conflict.

Dr. Robert Liggett of the Ju- nior Chamber announced that his organization is moving ahead with plans for the Little Miss Pumpkin Show event, A Meet the Candidates night and the an- nual Halloween Parade.

Charles Wellman of the Health and Safety Committee announced that Fire Preven- tion Week is now being ob- served here. The local fire de- partment's new aerial ladder truck will be in the downtown area Saturday to emphasize the observance.

Welcomed as new members for the month were Robert Hin- ton of Tarlton, a surveyor, and Colonel Sander's Fried Chicken firm.

Additional guests at the ses- sion were Mayor Ben H. Gor- don, the Rev. Melvin Maxwell and Garland Noel.

REV MAXWELL described a publication on Sgt. Alvin York, noted World War I hero, com- piled by the Rev. Richard Hum- ble of the local Church of Christ in Christian Union. The booklet will be on display at Pumpkin Show.

Sgt. York was a member of the Church of Christ in Christ- ian Union prior to his death. Rev. Humble officiated at the noted soldier's funeral services.

Five Enrolled At Otterbein

Five students from the Cir- cleville area are enrolled as freshmen for the first 1966-67 semester of classes at Otter- bein College, Westerville.

The enrolled freshmen are Ray F. Mowery, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Mowery, Route 3; Regina E. Parcells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Parcells, 544 E. Mound St.; Steven E. Steinhauser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Steinhauser, Wil- liamsport; James A. Garrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mostyn Garrett, Mt. Sterling; and Rob- ert E. Adkins II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Adkins, 238 E. Main St.

The local students help to make up the 400-member fresh- man class at Otterbein.

PTA News

The High Street PTA met re- cently at the school and various officers and committees were introduced by Mrs. Tom Down- ing, chairman. They are as fol- lows.

Co-chairmen, Mrs. Don Pon- tious and Mrs. Everett Stock- len; secretary, Mrs. Harriet Kaylor; treasurer, Mrs. Delmos Moore; Pumpkin Show chair- man, Mrs. John Sabine; refresh- ment committee, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hott, Mr. and Mrs. Law- rence Cupp, Mr. and Mrs. Walt Spangler; membership chair- men, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Diltz; ways and means, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Grover, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ankrom, Mr. and Mrs. Ev- ertt Stocklen; health chairman, Mrs. Joe Blue.

The Kindergarten room won the prize for having the great- est number of parents present.

Educational-Work Program, Dues Reviewed by Chamber

Steps to establish an informative program on distributive education here and a motion calling for a new membership rate schedule were approved Tuesday by directors of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

The board unanimously agreed to initiate a move that will outline the role of local businesses that take part in distributive education for local students. The DE program, conducted here in conjunction with the local high school, allows a prescribed number of students to attend classes for a half-day and then work at downtown stores and firms the remainder of the day.

The need to make local businessmen more aware of the program was sounded after a delegation of mothers, headed by Mrs. Emmitt Dade, visited the meeting for a discussion on the current program. They said their appearance was on behalf of an effort to help their children find jobs here.

Earl Palm Chamber president, said a sincere effort will be made to enlighten all local businesses concerning the DE program. A motion to include a rundown on the local operation in the next issue of the "Chamber Newsletter" as an initial step was approved.

TAKING part in the discussion, along with Mrs. Dade, were Mrs. Sam Smith, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Robert Jones and Mrs. John Phifer.

The new Chamber membership rate schedule, accepted as proposed by a special finance committee, will reflect an increase based mainly on the number of employees. The new figures were proposed following an extensive study that included a comparison with neighboring communities.

The directors also approved a proposed budget of $8,050 for 1967. The budget for this year was $7,500.

Jack Clifton, chairman, reported that his nominating committee has compiled a list of candidates for director posts next year. Seven will be elected.

In other business, travel directories compiled by Mrs. E. R. Bennett, Chamber secretary-manager, were distributed. The brochures, always in demand by Pumpkin Show visitors, list hotel-motel and eating facilities in this area and other interesting facts concerning the city.

A letter from Miss Rebecca Alfie, Pickaway County's own Miss American Teen-Ager, was read by Mrs. Bennett. She expressed thanks to the Chamber for the thrilling "Welcome Home" extended her following her coronation in New Jersey.

IN OTHER legislative action, the directors approved a motion opposing a bill now before the House of Representatives on community development. Ed Frericks, congressional action chairman, said the measure calls for additional federal controls over development in localities of less than 50,000 population.

President Palm announced that Asa Elsea will replace Romaine Wilson as member of the board. Wilson was forced to resign his two-year term due to

Five Enrolled At Otterbein

Five students from the Circleville area are enrolled as freshmen for the first 1966-67 semester of classes at Otterbein College, Westerville.

The enrolled freshmen are Ray F. Mowery, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Mowery, Route 3; Regina E. Parsons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Parsons, 544 E. Mound St.; Steven E. Steinhauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Steinhauer, Williamsport; James A. Garrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mostyn Garrett, Mt. Sterling; and Robert E. Adkins II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Adkins, 238 E. Main St.

Dr. Robert Liggett of the Junior Chamber announced that his organization is moving ahead with plans for the Little Miss Pumpkin Show event, A Meet the Candidates night and the annual Halloween Parade.

Charles Wellman of the Health and Safety Committee announced that Fire Prevention Week is now being observed here. The local fire department's new aerial ladder truck will be in the downtown area Saturday to emphasize the observance.

Welcomed as new members for the month were Robert Hinton of Tarlton, a surveyor, and Colonel Sander's Fried Chicken firm.

Additional guests at the session were Mayor Ben H. Gordon, the Rev. Melvin Maxwell and Garland Noel.

REV MAXWELL described a publication on Sgt. Alvin York, noted World War I hero, compiled by the Rev. Richard Humble of the local Church of Christ in Christian Union. The booklet will be on display at Pumpkin Show.

Sgt. York was a member of the Church of Christ in Christian Union prior to his death. Rev. Humble officiated at the noted soldier's funeral services.

TV To Observe Lunch Plan Anniversary with Open House

Teays Valley High School's lunch room will hold a daily open house during the observance of the 20th anniversary of the School Lunch Program Oct. 9-15.

The National School Lunch Act of Congress in 1946 sets forth in its preamble, the goal to "safeguard the health and well-being of the nation's children." Mrs. Alice Hoover, kitchen manager at Teays Valley, noted today.

School boards at the local level determine whether they will take part in the Federal School Lunch Program, Mrs. Hoover said. There are more than 62,000 schools now participating, she noted, including the Teays Valley schools.

Various methods are followed in planning these lunches' Mrs. Hoover continued. In the Teays Valley District, the kitchen managers from each of the elementary schools meet every four to six weeks with the high school home economics teachers to plan menus for the next several weeks.

IN PLANNING menus, the re-

Local Society To Cooperate In Survey

The Pickaway County Historical Society will cooperate with the Ohio Historical Society in preparing a preliminary survey of the choicest of Ohio's architectural, historical and archaeological structures, sites and areas.

The survey is designed to call public attention to the state's most noteworthy landmarks; to recognize these landmarks for their excellence; to assist legislative efforts in securing passage of acts to foster and promote preservation and restoration; and to provide and test techniques, procedures, lines of communications and precedents by which more comprehensive surveys may be made.

The preliminary survey of all 88 counties, when completed, will be submitted by the Ohio Historical Society to the Legislative Study Committee for recommendations to the Legislature.

All persons in Pickaway County interested in designating a significant architectural, historical or archaeological structure, site and area for inclusion in the survey may write or call Mrs. R. R. Balse, recording secretary, 207 E. Main St., Circleville, for application forms.

NO LANDMARK constructed or achieving its claim to fame since 1939 will be included. This is based on the reasoning that sufficient time has not elapsed to judge impartially the significance of such landmark.

According to Daniel R. Porter, director of the Ohio Historical Society, this is an important survey. It being the first of its kind attempted on a statewide level, he said.

requirements for serving the Type A lunch must consist of at least two ounces protein, three-fourths cup vegetable and/or fruit, one serving bread, two teaspoons butter of fortified margarine and one-half pint milk. A vitamin C food is to be served daily, and a vitamin A food twice weekly. It is challenging meeting these requirements, plus offering attractive lunches which include foods of contrasting textures and color, and at the same time meeting with the approval of hundreds of students.

The Teays Valley Local School District cafeteria report for the school year 1965-66 compiled by Benis Lutz, local superintendent and executive head, shows the average number of lunches served daily in the four schools was 1,595. The total number of half-pints of milk served was 530,498. Total income for the district, including federal lunch and milk subsidies, amounted to $99,426.12. This figure will no doubt surpass $100,000 for the coming year. Out of this income must come costs for food, equipment, labor and other services, for a total expense of $97,726.87, leaving a balance of $1,699.25.

Inventory increase from June, 1965 to June, 1966 was $686.80 making a net profit of $2,386.05 for the 1965-66 school year. Cases of federal surplus food received during the year numbered 1,193, a decrease of 343 cases from the previous year. Prospects for the coming year indicate another substantial reduction in surplus commodities. Bread and milk purchases are accepted by the local board on a bid basis.

All purchases of groceries and other supplies are ordered by each school's kitchen manager on a comparative basis, taking into consideration the best quality available at lowest prices. The cafeteria fund is a separate, self-sustaining operation, and the general fund, which is supported by local taxes, becomes involved only when the cafeteria fund shows a deficit.

Miss Stinson Entered in Teen Contest

Melany Stinson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Byron Stinson of New Holland, has been selected as one of the 20 finalists in the Ohio division of the Miss Teenage America contest.

A Miami Trace High School senior, she is one of approximately 900 teen-agers who entered the contest last month.

The finalists will appear in a parade in Columbus Oct. 8. Final judging will be 8 p. m. Oct. 16 in Veterans Memorial.

The girls will be judged 25 per cent on a written test, 25 per cent on poise and appearance and 25 per cent on gear appraisal.

Dear Abby: Beyond Call of Duty

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a single woman, living alone. A prowler broke into my apartment about 2 months ago. Now the investigating officer is making a pest of himself. He drops in for coffee any time he feels like it. He talks incessantly about his domestic problems and his children. Recently he has made some very cutting remarks about his wife from whom he says he is separated.

He has even maneuvered a couple of home-cooked dinners by dropping in at meal time. I am afraid I give him the axe any other married man would have received in the beginning, all future calls for help from the police department might be ignored. How can I get rid of him?

STUCK

DEAR STUCK: Thank the man for his diligence as a police officer, but tell him you would prefer he not continue to drop in. And if he doesn't get the message, tell the chief. That should end it and keep the record straight for the future.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been married for 2 years and already she is tired of me. She swears she still loves me as much as ever, but what am I supposed to believe when she tells me she wants twin beds? We are moving from our small apartment into a little house and the question of a bedroom suit came up.

That's when she told me she wanted twin beds. Before we were married we agreed on a double bed, and she seemed satisfied. I have argued all I can. She insists that we will both sleep better in twin beds. Maybe SHE will, but I am hurt.

MICKY

DEAR MICKY: If she swears she still loves you, what do you want, an affidavit? Remember you agreed on a double bed BEFORE you were married, so you can't blame her for not knowing your sleeping habits. Maybe you snore, hog the bed or snatch the blankets. Quit arguing. Absence could make the heart grow fonder.

Councilmen Eye Curfew Law at New Holland

The village council of New Holland has tentatively approved a curfew.

The proposed curfew provides that young people of the 13 to 18 year old age group be off the village streets from 10:30 p. m. until 5 a. m. unless accompanied by parents or guardians or are on errands authorized by the parents.

For youngsters 12 years old and under, the curfew is from sunset to sunrise.

The village council renewed a reciprocal agreement with the Williamsport Fire Department.

Erection of signs setting the speed limit in the village at 25 miles per hour and warning against soliciting was approved.

Ad Helps Bring Bride

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Paul Shawhan dated 97 women in three weeks and married one of them.

Now he and the new Mrs. Shawhan — until last Saturday Bobbie L. Scudder, 41, of near-by Miamisburg—are headed for Hawaii and a honeymoon to climax the romantic venture which started when Shawhan, a 54-year-old realtor, ran a newspaper advertisement.

"I would like to date an attractive widow or divorcee," said the ad he ran in a suburban weekly here. "She should be between 35 and 55 years old. Please phone and I'll come over to your place and we can talk it over. I'm game . . . how about you?"

The ad cost Shawhan $75.18. He figured he spent another

TV To Observe Lunch Plan Anniversary with Open House

Teays Valley High School lunch room will hold a daily open house during the observance of the 20th anniversary of the School Lunch Program Oct. 9-15.

The National School Lunch Act of Congress in 1946 sets forth in its preamble, the goal to "safeguard the health and well-being of the nation's children," Mrs. Alice Hoover, kitchen manager at Teays Valley, noted today.

School boards at the local level determine whether they will take part in the Federal School Lunch Program, Mrs. Hoover said. There are more than 62,000 schools now participating, she noted, including the Teays Valley schools.

Various methods are followed in planning these lunches, Mrs. Hoover continued. In the Teays Valley District, the kitchen managers from each of the elementary schools meet every four to six weeks with the high school home economics teachers to plan menus for the next several weeks.

IN PLANNING menus, the re-

Local Society To Cooperate In Survey

The Pickaway County Historical Society will cooperate with the Ohio Historical Society in preparing a preliminary survey of the choicest of Ohio's architectural, historical and archaeological structures, sites and areas.

The survey is designed to call public attention to the state's most noteworthy landmarks; to recognize these landmarks for their excellence; to assist legislative efforts in securing passage of acts to foster and promote preservation and restoration; and to provide and test techniques, procedures, lines of communications and precedents by which more comprehensive surveys may be made.

The preliminary survey of all 88 counties, when completed, will be submitted by the Ohio Historical Society to the Legislative Study Committee for recommendations to the Legislature.

All persons in Pickaway County interested in designating a significant architectural, historical or archaeological structure, site and area for inclusion in the survey may write or call Mrs. R. R. Balse, recording secretary, 207 E. Main St., Circleville, for application forms.

Ups and Downs Of Upset Gulch

NEW YORK (AP) — There are more ups and downs in college football than there are in a Wall Street stock report.

Last week's wanderings on the rim of Upset Gulch brought a meager .709 picking average and dropped the season's figures to .726.

Michigan State over Michigan: Bubba Smith, Michigan State's defensive end, is 6-7 and 265 pounds. At that size he is big enough to be both the Smith Brothers and make the Wolverines cough up that ball.

UCLA over Rice: Gary Beban and his rugged playmates make the Rice Owls say "Who?"

Notre Dame over Army: The surprising Cadets have allowed only one touchdown in their first three games but Notre Dame is in a different league. The Irish to get at least three TDs.

Alabama over Clemson: The Crimson Tide has both an offense and a defense.

Arkansas over Baylor: Each team has a top flight quarterback but Jon Brittenum of the Porkers has more able helpers. Southern California over Washington: The Trojan defense will be stacked to stop the running of Don Moore and the plunging of Jeff Jordan.

Nebraska over Wisconsin: One of the poorest Wisconsin

teams of recent years collides with one of Nebraska's best.

Ohio State over Illinois: If you don't have courage, don't bet on this one.

Tennessee over Georgia Tech: For the fourth straight week the TV fans will watch a pair of unbeaten teams. The Tennessee defense, which hasn't yet allowed a touchdown, to melt the ineffectiveness of Lenny Snow.

Florida over Florida State: Steve Spurrier will find his targets often enough to pull it out although this meeting is more than a game for Florida State.

Dartmouth over Princeton: For years this meeting ended the Ivy League season but here it is on World Series Saturday, with Dartmouth the host. That makes it even tougher for Princeton.

Texas over Oklahoma: The annual Dallas battle. Super Bill Bradley, the young Texas quarterback is out with an injury, but sophomore Andy White, who completed six of eight passes last week, is expected to be a capable replacement.

Cincinnati over Xavier, Dayton over Louisville, Miami (Ohio) over Kent State, Ohio University over Toledo, Bowling Green over Western Michigan.

Teays Valley Visits Pleasant View

Westfall, Logan Elm Grid Clash Is County Highlight

Pickaway County football action Friday will focus at Logan Elm where the Braves and the Westfall Mustangs meet in a Scioto Valley Conference clash.

Teays Valley, winner of its initial Metropolitan league start against Hamilton Twp. last week, visits the home of the potent Pleasant View Panthers.

The intra-county contest at Logan Elm is expected to attract a near capacity crowd. Winless Westfall will be seeking to gain their first victory by upsetting the Braves, winner of two of four contests to date.

The next two weeks in a row, Westfall played defending Scioto Valley Conference champion, Union, losing 45-0 in the first game and 44-0 in the second.

LOGAN ELM has had an up and down season. The Braves took a 38-0 beating at Fredericktown. They bounced back the next week to top Fairfield School for boys by a 19-6 count.

The third game saw Logan Elm down cross-county rival Teays Valley in a 12-8 battle.

But last week, Dublin surprised the Braves with another 38-0 loss in the rain.

Both Logan Elm and Westfall are operating under new head coaches this year. Jim Butz is the Braves' new mentor and Len Gwiazdowsky heads the Mustang football forces.

It is the first Scioto Valley Conference game for the Braves, and the second for Westfall. Last year, Westfall emerged an 8-6 victory.

Adding incentive to the Braves desire to win is the fact it will be homecoming at Logan Elm. Debbie Ankrom has been named homecoming queen. Attendees are Wanda Dunkle, freshman; Janet Collins, sophomore; Nancy Eakin, junior; Ellen Fuiks, senior.

TEAYS VALLEY will be faced with the prospect of stopping Charlie Hess, Pleasant View's passing quarterback, and Nick McCoy, a hard charging full-back.

The Panthers opened the season with a pair of heartbreaking losses to Brookhaven, 8-7, and to Grandview, 29-28.

Whitehall, another highly touted Metro League team, out-downed Pleasant View, 12-0, last week.

Against Circleville, a fullback draw, with McCoy doing the ball carrying, piled up yardage on the ground. McCoy out-gained the entire Circleville backfield.

New York Race Tracks Once Banished Double

NEW YORK (AP) — Would you believe there was a time there was no daily double at New York's race tracks?

The Daily Double seems such an accepted practice at race tracks throughout the country these days it is hard to believe the DD was abolished at the New York thoroughbred ovals after the 1945 season and not restored until the start of the 1949 season.

The three-year banishment of the DD was recalled today in the wake of the abolishment of the Twin Double at Yonkers Raceway, a harness race track. The TD earlier had been dropped by the Atlantic City thoroughbred track which substituted the quinnella form of betting on two races.

This form of betting, in which the bettor collects if he picks the first two horses to finish, either 1-2 or 2-1, proved such a success at the New Jersey seashore track that Garden State Park also will offer it at its fall meeting opening next Wednesday.

The 1946 New York Racing Commission report said the daily double was eliminated because it had "assumed the proportions of a gigantic numbers game with the form of horses concerned frequently completely overlooked."

The DD was reinstated in 1949 after a poll conducted by Opinion Research Corp. of Princeton, N.J., at the Empire City at Jamaica meeting in October, 1948, showed that of 1,264 personal interviews 81 per cent favored the return of the DD, eight per cent opposed it and 11 per cent were indifferent.

Unnoticed Pass Receiver

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Most people don't notice Billy Gambrell until he's caught a pass and is sprinting for a touchdown.

At 5-10 and 180 pounds, he gets lost among the human skyscrapers that play professional football. His team, the St. Louis Cardinals, are 4-0 in the National Football League's Eastern Division.

Gambrell could probably be called the only first string reserve player in the NFL and Coach Charley Winner doesn't even like to refer to Gambrell as a reserve.

"Because he isn't," says Winner. "We have three first team wide receivers—Sonny Randle, Bobby Joe Conrad and Gambrell. Our attack doesn't slow down a bit because Gambrell is in there."

"The fact that I'm shorter than most defensive backs doesn't give them that much advantage," says Gambrell. "No matter how tall you are, you either beat the back or catch him out of position, or you don't. The size doesn't mean a whole lot catching passes."

Reserved seat tickets for the Miami Trace-Circleville High School football game will go on sale at the high school Thursday and Friday.

The game has been designated as the Homecoming tilt.

BG's Williams Back of Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Big Stew Williams, who led Bowling Green to a 13-0 victory over Dayton last Saturday, was named today as Mid-American Conference Back of the Week.

Lineman of the week honors went to Bill Biggs, Ohio University's outstanding defensive end who was instrumental in the Bobcats' 12-10 triumph over Kent State.

Biggs, a 200 pound senior from Athens, contributed 10 solo tackles and assisted on four others. The Ohio U. co-captain never once let a Kent runner get around his side.

Others nominated for back honors were Don Fitzgerald, Kent; Andy Bafi, Marshall; Bill Pataki, Ohio U.; Bob Pfefferle, Toledo; Joe Kozar, Miami and Dave Hudson, Western Michigan.

Linemen who drew nominations included Tom Beutler, Toledo; Joe Siesel, Bowling Green; Jon Brooks, Kent; Rich Robb, Marshall; John Erisman, Miami and Dave Mollard, Western.

Local Lofts Winners in Pigeon Races

A bird from a loft of Stan Crosby took first in a 150 mile race from Winchester, Ky., with a speed of 972.994 yards per minute.

A 200 mile young bird race from Corbin, Ky., was won by a bird from Don Riffle's loft with a speed of 1,108.0937 yards per minute.

In the 150 mile event, Homer Kuntz of Chillicothe was second with a speed of 914.5006 yards per minute and Riffle was third in 914.5006 yards per minute. A Crosby bird also finished fourth.

Crosby won the bird derby and Kuntz had the nomination bird. There were 62 birds from six lofts competing.

In the 200 mile race, Wolfe and Crosby loft took second and third places with speeds of 1,100.2378 and 1,073.1415 yard per minute. Fourth place went to Riffle's loft with a speed of 1,059.985. Nomination bird was won by Riffle with Wolfe and Crosby winning the bird derby. There were six lofts with a total of 61 birds competing.

More Races Due Sunday

The Pickaway Speedway, operated by Floyd Woodgeard in Saltcreek Twp., is scheduling another afternoon of racing Sunday.

The time trials are slated to start at 1:30 p. m. First heats get under way at 2:30 p. m.

In last Sunday's action, more than 30 cars competed. The first heat was won by Bob Sowers of Springfield, with Frank Raymond second.

In the second heat, Roger Venrick of Catawba was the winner, followed by Hank Honer of Dayton.

Don Auberry of Bellefontaine won the first trophy dash with Charles Derexson of Tarlton finishing second.

The second trophy dash was won by Jim Nichols of Laurelville, with Honer coming in second.

In the consi, Jim Bradenburg of Catawba was first and Don Willet of Springfield second.

The figure eight feature race, a 20-lap event, was won by Jack Striver of Xenia, Sowers was second, Myron Herron of Mine or third, Marvin Stump of Amanda fourth and Honer fifth.

Ups and Downs Of Upset Gulch

NEW YORK (AP) — There are more ups and downs in college football than there are in a Wall Street stock report.

Last week's wanderings on the rim of Upset Gulch brought a meager .709 picking average and dropped the season's figures to .726.

Michigan State over Michigan: Bubba Smith, Michigan State's defensive end, is 6-7 and 265 pounds. At that size he is big enough to be both the Smith Brothers and make the Wolverines cough up that ball.

UCLA over Rice: Gary Beban and his rugged playmates make the Rice Owls say "Who?"

Notre Dame over Army: The surprising Cadets have allowed only one touchdown in their first three games but Notre Dame is in a different league. The Irish to get at least three TDs.

Alabama over Clemson: The Crimson Tide has both an offense and a defense.

Arkansas over Baylor: Each team has a top flight quarterback but Jon Brittenum of the Porks has more able helpers.

Southern California over Washington: The Trojan defense will be stacked to stop the running of Don Moore and the plunging of Jeff Jordan.

Nebraska over Wisconsin: One of the poorest Wisconsin

teams of recent years collides with one of Nebraska's best.

Ohio State over Illinois: If you don't have courage, don't bet on this one.

Tennessee over Georgia Tech: For the fourth straight week the TV fans will watch a pair of unbeaten teams. The Tennessee defense, which hasn't yet allowed a touchdown, to melt the effectiveness of Lenny Snow.

Florida over Florida State: Steve Spurrier will find his targets often enough to pull it out although this meeting is more than a game for Florida State.

Dartmouth over Princeton: For years this meeting ended the Ivy League season but here it is on World Series Saturday, with Dartmouth the host. That makes it even tougher for Princeton.

Texas over Oklahoma: The annual Dallas battle. Super Bill Bradley, the young Texas quarterback is out with an injury, but sophomore Andy White, who completed six of eight passes last week, is expected to be a capable replacement.

Cincinnati over Xavier, Dayton over Louisville, Miami (Ohio) over Kent State, Ohio University over Toledo, Bowling Green over Western Michigan.

New York Race Tracks Once Banished Double

NEW YORK (AP) — Would you believe there was a time there was no daily double at New York's race tracks?

The Daily Double seems such an accepted practice at race tracks throughout the country these days it is hard to believe the DD was abolished at the New York thoroughbred ovals after the 1945 season and not restored until the start of the 1949 season.

The three-year banishment of the DD was recalled today in the wake of the abolishment of the Twin Double at Yonkers Raceway, a harness race track. The TD earlier had been dropped by the Atlantic City thoroughbred track which substituted the quinnella form of betting on two races.

This form of betting, in which the bettor collects if he picks the first two horses to finish, either 1-2 or 2-1, proved such a success at the New Jersey seashore track that Garden State Park also will offer it at its fall meeting opening next Wednesday.

The 1946 New York Racing Commission report said the daily double was eliminated because it had "assumed the proportions of a gigantic numbers game with the form of horses concerned frequently completely overlooked."

The DD was reinstated in 1949 after a poll conducted by Opinion Research Corp. of Princeton, N.J., at the Empire City at Jamaica meeting in October, 1948, showed that of 1,264 personal interviews 81 per cent favored the return of the DD, eight per cent opposed it and 11 per cent were indifferent.

Unnoticed Pass Receiver

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Most people don't notice Billy Gambrell until he's caught a pass and is sprinting for a touchdown.

At 5-10 and 180 pounds, he gets lost among the human skyscrapers that play professional football. His team, the St. Louis Cardinals, are 4-0 in the National Football League's Eastern Division.

Gambrell could probably be called the only first string reserve player in the NFL and Coach Charley Winner doesn't even like to refer to Gambrell as a reserve.

"Because he isn't," says Winner. "We have three first team wide receivers—Sonny Randle, Bobby Joe Conrad and Gambrell. Our attack doesn't slow down a bit because Gambrell is in there."

The 25-year-old pass receiver from Athens, Ga., proved last Sunday in the Cardinals' 41-10 victory over Philadelphia that Winner is right as he caught two touchdown passes from quarterback Charley Johnson.

"The fact that I'm shorter than most defensive backs doesn't give them that much advantage," says Gambrell. "No matter how tall you are, you either beat the back or catch him out of position, or you don't. The size doesn't mean a whole lot catching passes."

Reserve Duce Sale Set for Homecoming

Reserved seat tickets for the Miami Trace-Circleville High School football game will go on sale at the high school Thursday and Friday.

The game has been designated as the Homecoming tilt.

Local Lofts Winners in Pigeon Races

Two local lofts entered the winning birds in recent pigeon races.

A bird from the loft of Stan Crosby took first in a 150 mile race from Winchester, Ky., with a speed of 979.994 yards per minute.

A 200 mile young bird race from Corbin, Ky., was won by a bird from Don Riffle's loft with a speed of 1,108.0937 yards per minute.

In the 150 mile event, Homer Kuntz of Chillicothe was second with a speed of 914.5006 yards per minute and Riffle was third in 914.5006 yards per minute. A Crosby bird also finished fourth.

Crosby won the bird derby and Kuntz had the nomination bird. There were 62 birds from six lofts competing.

In the 200 mile race, Wolfe and Crosby loft took second and third places with speeds of 1,100.2378 and 1,073.1415 yard per minute. Fourth place went to Riffle's loft with a speed of 1,059.985. Nomination bird was won by Riffle with Wolfe and Crosby winning the bird derby. There were six lofts with a total of 61 birds competing.

More Races Due Sunday

The Pickaway Speedway, operated by Floyd Woodgeard in Salsereck Twp., is scheduling another afternoon of racing Sunday.

The time trials are slated to start at 1:30 p. m. First heats get under way at 2:30 p. m.

In last Sunday's action, more than 30 cars competed. The first heat was won by Bob Sowers of Springfield, with Frank Raymond second.

In the second heat, Roger Venrick of Catawba was the winner, followed by Hank Honer of Dayton.

Don Auberly of Bellefontaine won the first trophy dash with Charles Derexson of Turlon finishing second.

The second trophy dash was won by Jim Nichols of Laurelville, with Honer coming in second.

In the consi, Jim Bradenburg of Catawba was first and Don Willett of Springfield second.

The figure eight feature race, a 20-lap event, was won by Jack Striver of Xenia, Sowers was second, Myron Herron of Mine- or third, Marvin Stump of Amanda fourth and Honer fifth.

Teays Valley Visits Pleasant View

Westfall, Logan Elm Grid Clash Is County Highlight

Pickaway County football action Friday will focus at Logan Elm where the Braves and the Westfall Mustangs meet in a Scioto Valley Conference clash.

Teays Valley, winner of its initial Metropolitan league start against Hamilton Twp. last week, visits the home of the potent Pleasant View Panthers.

The intra-county contest at Logan Elm is expected to attract a near capacity crowd. Winless Westfall will be seeking to gain their first victory by upsetting the Braves, winner of two of four contests to date.

The youthful Westfall grid-ders opened the season by taking a 42-0 loss at the hands of Amanda - Clearcreek. The following week they lost to a powerful Piketon team 60-0.

The next two weeks in a row, Westfall played defending Scioto Valley Conference champion, Union, losing 45-0 in the first game and 44-0 in the second.

LOGAN ELM has had an up and down season. The Braves took a 38-0 beating at Fredericktown. They bounced back the next week to top Fairfield School for boys by a 19-6 count.

The third game saw Logan Elm down cross-county rival Teays Valley in a 12-8 battle.

But last week, Dublin surprised the Braves with another 38-0 loss in the rain.

Both Logan Elm and Westfall are operating under new head coaches this year. Jim Butz is the Braves' new mentor and Len Gwiazdowsky heads the Mustang football forces.

It is the first Scioto Valley Conference game for the Braves, and the second for Westfall. Last year, Westfall emerged an 8-6 victory.

Adding incentive to the Braves desire to win is the fact it will be homecoming at Logan Elm. Debbie Ankrom has been named homecoming queen. Attendants are Wanda Dunkle, freshman; Janet Collins, sophomore; Nancy Eakin, junior; Ellen Fulks, senior.

TEAYS VALLEY will be faced with the prospect of stopping Charlie Hess, Pleasant View's

passing quarterback, and Nick McCoy, a hard charging full-back.

One of the pre-season favorites to win the Metropolitan League, the Panthers have defeated only Circleville this year, by an 18-0 count. Circleville, in turn owns a 34-0 win over Teays Valley.

The Panthers opened the season with a pair of heartbreaking losses to Brookhaven, 8-7, and to Grandview, 29-28.

Whitehall, another highly touted Metro League team, downed Pleasant View, 12-0, last week.

Against Circleville, a fullback draw, with McCoy doing the ball carrying, piled up yardage on the ground. McCoy out-gained the entire Circleville backfield.

BG's Williams Back of Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Big Stew Williams, who led Bowling Green to a 13-0 victory over Dayton last Saturday, was named today as Mid-American Conference Back of the Week.

Lineman of the week honors went to Bill Biggs, Ohio University's outstanding defensive end who was instrumental in the Bobcats' 12-10 triumph over Kent State.

Williams, a 6-foot-1, 240-pound senior fullback, had his most productive day ever with 139 yards in 29 rushes.

Others nominated for back honors were Don Fitzgerald, Kent; Andy Bafi, Marshall; Bill Pataki, Ohio U.; Bob Pfefferle, Toledo; Joe Kozar, Miami ad Dave Hudson, Western Michigan.

Linemen who drew nominations included Tom Beutler, Toledo; Joe Siesel, Bowling Green; Jon Brooks, Kent; Rich Robb, Marshall; John Erisman, Miami and Dave Mollard, Western.

LE Boosters To Meet

The Logan Elm Booster Club will meet 8 p. m. Monday at the high school it was announced today by Gerald Winfough, president.

World Series Classic Matches L.A. Pitching, Orioles Power

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Big Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Baltimore's young Dave McNally were on the mound and catcher Andy Etchebarren was on the lookout for Maury Wills as the World Series opened today.

A sellout crowd of 55,000 began filling into Dodger Stadium early for the 4 p. m., EDT, start of the Series that is expected to be a classic match-up of Dodger pitching and speed vs. Oriole power.

Both Etchebarren, the Orioles' rookie catcher, and Wills, the Dodger shortstop, were well aware that the entire battle could revolve around Baltimore's ability to control the Dodgers on the bases — something Minnesota couldn't do at Dodger Stadium last year.

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) — Jack Nicklaus says he's out to prove the bookies are right by showing he's just as good a match player as a stroke player in golf.

"I must admit I'm playing pretty well," said Nicklaus after a practice round for the World Match Play Tournament Thursday over the Wentworth west course.

Nicklaus, reigning British Open champion, justified his favorite spot at 5 to 2 in the three-day tournament for prizes totaling $44,800.

Nicklaus has won the U.S. Open, Masters, the British Open and the Canada Cup individual title. All were based on stroke play.

There's only one of the eight men in this field who has a better record, defending champion Gary Player of South Africa.

The latest odds against Player winning are 5 to 1. Ahead of him are Nicklaus at 5 to 2, Arnold Palmer 7 to 2, and Billy Casper, the current U.S. Open champ, 4 to 1.

Austin Sees Brown Upset

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pittsburgh Steelers' Coach Bill Austin says his club will upset the Cleveland Browns Saturday night.

Austin made the prediction at a luncheon Tuesday in Pittsburgh on the basis of the Browns' slim 13-10 victory over the Steelers in Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 3.

The Steelers are in fourth place in the National Football League's Eastern Division with a 1-2-1 record while the Browns are tied with Washington and Philadelphia for third place, all with 2-2 marks.

The Browns are busy trying to cram an extra practice session into the short week because of Saturday's game.

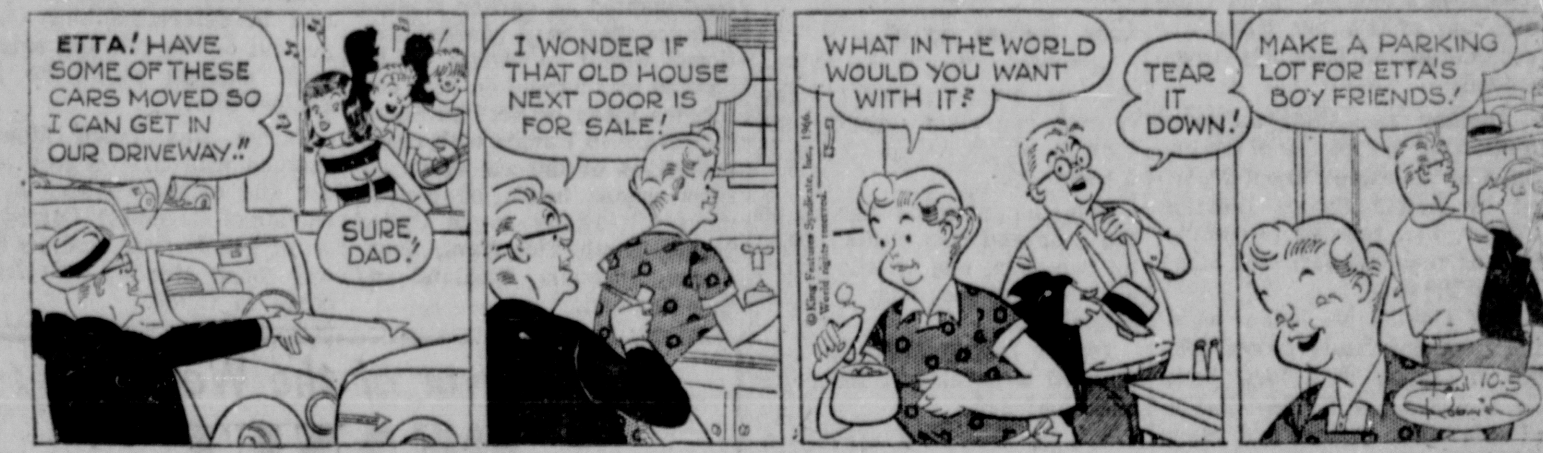

Day Game Planned
CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Because of a breakdown in the electrical system, the Youngstown at Southern Illinois football game will be played Saturday afternoon instead of Saturday night.

World Series Classic Matches L.A. Pitching, Orioles Power

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Big Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Baltimore's young mound and catcher Andy Etchebarren were on the lookout for Maury Wills as the World Series opened today.

A sellout crowd of 55,000 began filing into Dodgers Stadium early for the 4 p. m., EDT, start of the Series that is expected to be a classic match-up of Dodger pitching and speed vs. Oriole power.

Both Etchebarren, the Orioles' rookie catcher, and Wills, the Dodger shortstop, were well aware that the entire battle could revolve around Baltimore's ability to control the Dodgers on the bases — something Minnesota couldn't do at Dodger Stadium last year.

"I'm looking for Wills and Davis (outfielder Willie Davis) to try and do a lot of running," Etchebarren said.

Etchebarren said the Orioles had paid particular attention to that facet of the game the last two weeks of the season.

"We've been working on it the last two weeks," he said. "We've also worked on a few more pickoff plays."

Meanwhile, Wills inferred that the Dodgers would test Etchebarren early because he is a rookie.

"You'd have to consider that," Wills said. "A thing like that shouldn't go untried."

Wills explained that the Dodgers "don't go out there and run blindly," but try to force the other club back to fundamentals.

The Dodgers' ability to put the squeeze on with speed is one of the major reasons Manager Hank Bauer of the Orioles tapped McNally for the opening assignment. A left-hander, McNally would be more effective in holding the Dodgers on base.

Dodger Manager Walt Alton would have preferred to open with his 27-game winner, Sandy Koufax, but had to switch to Drysdale when Koufax was forced to pitch the full nine innings in the pennant-clincher at Philadelphia last Sunday.

As the rotation now stands, Drysdale, 33-16, will be followed to the mound by Koufax, 27-9, and Claude Osteen, 17-14. Jim Palmer, 15-10, and Wally Bunker, 10-6, will follow McNally, 13-6. Osteen and Bunker hook in Baltimore Saturday when the scene shifts to the American League city.

The Dodgers remained the 8-5 choice because of their pitching and speed. Alton's pitching staff has a 2.63 earned run average and 52 complete games compared with a 3.35 ERA and 23 complete games for the Orioles.

But Bauer has the bombers, particularly Frank Robinson, who became the first player in a decade to win batting's triple crown by leading the league with a .316 batting average, 49 homers and 122 runs batted in.

Over-all, the Orioles have hit .259 with 175 homers to 256 for the Dodgers, who have only 108 homers.

Toledo Coach Worried over Athens Trek

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—You can't blame Frank Lauterbur for being a bit reluctant about taking his Toledo football team to Athens Saturday.

Ohio University, after two consecutive surprise victories and getting stronger each week, plays its first home game against the Rockets.

"They may be looking for us," Lauterbur noted. "I know they will be sky high after beating Kent on the road."

The popular Toledo coach feels there's a great deal of significance attached to the game. "Both of us are in a position where the game is a key one. The team that gets the decision will have the momentum to stay in the race."

The winner of the Toledo (1-0) - Ohio U. (1-0) skirmish is likely to challenge favored Miami (1-0) and strong Bowling Green (0-0) for the Mid-American Conference championship.

Other top attractions in the league Saturday find Kent State (0-1) at Miami and Bowling Green at Western Michigan (0-1).

Marshall, 0-1 in the loop, plays the Quantico Marines on the road.

Toledo has only won once at Athens since 1951, that one a 19-13 decision in 1956.

That little statistic may be adding to Lauterbur's concern. "Ohio has a lot of things going for it," he said. "Bill Hess is a real sound, fundamental coach. And the Bobcats have a versatile attack with Ron DeLuca passing and Wash Lyons and Bob Houmard running."

Lauterbur said his sophomore fullback Bob Pfeiffer has been a pleasant surprise and has put some punch in the attack. Pfeiffer has gained 234 yards in three games and averaged 7.1 yards a crack.

Coach Leo Strang's Golden Flashes will be trying to rebound against a hot Miami club that owns the nation's longest winning streak at nine.

Kent whipped the Redskins 13 a year ago.

Solons Okay Request for New Fireman

Legislation authorizing the addition of another fireman was approved Tuesday night by Circleville Council.

According to council's safety committee, the additional man will offset the need for overtime to keep the department at operational strength. The request for another fireman was submitted last month.

The addition will bring the local department staff to seven firemen, three lieutenants and one fire chief.

In other legislative action, the solons adopted a resolution authorizing the issuance and sale of bonds for the city's sanitary sewer district No. 2 project.

THE BONDS, in the amount of $130,500, will be sold to Merrill, Turbin & Co. of Cincinnati. The firm's bid, listing an interest rate of 4 1/2 per cent, was considered the best of nine received.

Another resolution approved authorized the release of the balance of an escrow bond posted by Better Home Building Center, Inc. relative to completion of required facilities along Clark Drive.

The Chillicothe home building firm previously posted $15,000 in escrow at a local bank as a guarantee for installation of sidewalks, sewers and other facilities. The money was released as work progressed. The amount released last night was $3,114.69.

Also gaining approval were three ordinances appropriating money. One credited $900 to the street repair fund's gas and oil account; one authorized $400 to the clerk hire account; one authorized $400 to the clerk hire account to handle expenses created by administrative work on sewer

Keys Directs Security For Kennedy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former State Highway Safety Director J. Grant Keys of Elyria will be in charge of security for U. S. Sen. Robert Kennedy's visit to Columbus Saturday, State Democratic Chairman Morton Neipp announced Tuesday.

Keys will confer here Wednesday with Columbus officials to set up arrangements for the New York senator's visit.

Keys will try to make Kennedy available to the public within the bounds of security, Neipp explained.

Arrival time now is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. at Port Columbus from Washington for the $50-a-plate party fund-raising dinner Saturday evening in the Lausche Building on the state fairgrounds.

Keys now is Lorain County treasurer.

Armed Robbers Get Sweet Loot

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Jose M. Tosato closed his restaurant one night recently and took the day's receipts home in a paper bag.

Later he answered a knock on the door and was pushed aside by two men, one of whom had a pistol and the other a knife, police said.

Tosato told police the men grabbed a paper bag from the table and fled.

But, he said, they grabbed a bag full of candy instead of the one with the money.

district No. 2 and $150 to supplies and incidentals accounts; the third authorized the credit of $37.76 to the fire department's hydrant account.

A final ordinance for the evening fixed the salary for the clerk's post in the auditor's office. The rate was set at $1.60 per hour.

Manila Summit Date Changed

MANILA (AP) — The tentative date for the Manila summit meeting on Viet Nam was changed again today, to Oct. 24-25.

It was the third date proposed. Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos in his original proposal for the meeting had suggested Oct. 18. Later he switched to Oct. 28-29.

Both Australia and New Zealand wanted an earlier meeting because they have general elections within a month. The change was agreed on at a conference today of Foreign Secretary Narciso Ramos with representatives of the six other nations whose heads of government will attend — the United States, South Viet Nam, South Korea, Australia, Thailand and New Zealand.

Jail Guard Hospitalized In Scuffle

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A Toledo city jail guard was hospitalized Tuesday after a cell block scuffle with a young prisoner held on murder charges.

The guard, Thomas Hall, was struck on the head several times with a metal bar wielded by Thomas E. Carter, 26, police said. Hall was treated for head cuts at Toledo hospital and released, but he was later returned to the hospital. He was in fair condition Tuesday night.

Hall was making an afternoon check on prisoners when he discovered Carter out of his cell, he said later. He said the young man attacked him with a metal bar torn from his cell window.

Another guard, Ollie Szmania, and police Capt. Anthony Holowski, overpowered Carter and he was put in a special security cell. Police began an investigation to determine how Carter got out of the cell and said assault charges might be filed against him.

Carter was jailed Monday, charged with first degree murder and armed robbery in the slaying of Eugene D. Carrithers, 38, of Toledo. The victim's body was found Monday at Carter's home in Clyde.

School Bus Issue Eyed by PTA Group

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers has urged that a new study be made to provide a more "economical, functional and fair system" of school transportation.

This was among several resolutions adopted Tuesday at the group's 61st annual convention.

Other resolutions called on PTAs throughout the state to support more rigid enforcement of laws banning the sale of cigarettes to minors and urging the general assembly to pass laws requiring the installation of safety equipment on all new bicycles sold in Ohio.

The fair school bus resolution submitted by the Avon Lake PTA urged the Congress to call on the state board of education to "make an immediate study of the total school transportation problem, and the laws and regulations pertaining thereto, for the purpose of creating and effecting legislation... to provide a more economical functional, fair and satisfactory system of school pupil transportation."

The Avon Lake group said the study was necessary because school boards are repaid "considerably less than the actual dollar cost of both public and non-public school transportation" by the state.

As things are now, the resolution said, compliance with school bus laws result in considerable duplication of effort by the local school boards.

Directors and two other officers also were elected.

Mrs. Harold E. Radabaugh of Cincinnati was elected treasurer and Mrs. Vernon Cady of Bay Village first secretary in the only offices up for election this year.

Seven new directors were elected: Mrs. Donald Luff, Olmsted Falls, North Lake District; Mrs. Wilbur Amstutz, Lorain, North Central; Mrs. Edgar Miller, Lima, Northwest; Robert Duane Green, Springfield, West; Mrs. Raymond Reavley, Zanesville, Southeast; Mrs. Emelyne Reed, Londonderry, South Central, and Mrs. John Clark, Kettering, Southwest.

Directors re-elected were Mrs. Avery W. Schwab, Willoughby, Northeast; Mrs. Roland D. Hill, Akron, North; Mrs. M. D. Sheatsley, Columbus, Central; Mrs. Robert Hargrove Jr., Greentown, East, and Mrs. Thomas J. Galvin, Cincinnati, South.
